NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE number of children who returned to their places in the public schools of New-York city this morning is estimated at 150,000. There will also be about 100,000 in the corporate, parochial and private schools. The whole number of children taught in the public schools last year was 282,701, and this number will be raised to nearly 300,000 during the present year. From these figures it is fair to infer that the total population of the city is rapidly approaching 2,000,000.

PRESIDENT HARRISON has decided to not call an extra session of Congress. The necessity which seemed so imperative at the time of the inauguration has been growing gradually less until it has disappeared altogether. Public confidence was inspired by Republican success, and business revived without waiting for the wholesome tariff legislation which is sure to come. When Congress meets for the regular session the new states will have elected their Senators and Representatives, and the vacancies caused by death in the House will have been filled. Thus every state and district will be ready to take its part in the work of the session.

THAT duel of Columbus editors did not come off for the reason that one of them, Mr. Huff, was shadowed by the police, and could not get out of the city. His antagonist, Patterson, with his second and physician, and also the equivalent members of Huff's party, succeeded in reaching the fighting grounds, but of course there could be no "fun" with one of the principals absent. In the days when the duel was popular the second would would have taken his friend's place and defended his "honah, sah," but this did not happen in the present case. Another duel may possibly be arranged, but in that event it will be Patterson's turn to get himself shadowed.

THE Sun prints a long letter this morning, giving the information that the splendid endowment of the Johns Hopkins university of Baltimore has been swept away in the wreck of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. The University held 1,500 shares of Baltimore & Ohio stock, which for many years paid an annual dividend of 10 per cent, making the University's income therefrom $150,000. When the crash came the dividends ceased, and the University has since been living on gifts and borrowed money and cutting the salaries of its professors. If there is no exaggeration in the story, Baltimore has experienced one of the greatest misfortunes that ever befell an American city.

THE candidacy of John L. Sullivan for Congress calls to mind the modesty of John Morrisey, professional slugger but not champion of the world. Mr. Morrisey, who had no inordinate estimate of his abilities, called upon Speaker Colfax in relation to his assignment upon committees. He told the Speaker of his inexperience and lack of ambition for places he was not fitted to fill. "If I must go upon a committee," said he, "put me where I will have nothing to do." The Speaker smiled his famous smile but said nothing. In a few days he announced his committees, when Mr. Morrisey was delighted to find that he had been selected to adorn the tail of the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions.

THERE are two matrimonial agencies at Jeffersonville, Ind., opposite the city of Louisville. These have worked together until recently. Their plan was to watch the ferryboats and trains, and when they saw a couple apparently on matrimony bent, step forward and tender their kind offices. For years the price for a complete outfit, including license, minister, witnesses, and professional oath-taker to swear to the lady's age, was $7.50. But lately they have been cutting each other, and the price is now $3. Indiana formerly enjoyed an unrivaled reputation for cheap divorce, but a few years ago got ashamed of herself and improved her divorce law. This stimulus to marriage may contribute in part to atone for the mischief done in sundering the marriage tie when the state was less civilized than at present.

THE plan of the New York Sun for Robert Ray Hamilton, which we publish on the second page, may be summed up in half a dozen words: "Give the young man another chance." Of course much will depend upon Mr. Hamilton's force of character and self-control, if he is to be restored to the position from which he has fallen. In this connection the fact may be referred to as a matter of history, that Mr. Hamilton's great grandfather, Alexander Hamilton, was once detected in an intrigue with a dissolute woman, and publicly confessed and lamented his folly. It hardly checked his great career, for the reason that the new nation needed a man of his transcendent genius, and could find no other to fill his place. Men of great ability are not so scarce now as in Alexander Hamilton's time, while emergencies like those that made him indispensable are fewer. Robert Ray Hamilton is running a race with a whole army of bright and earnest competitors, and it is a race in which character as well as genius counts.

THE New York Press, whose editor is the Superintendent of the Census, publishes an estimate on the population of the states and territories, taken from the census of 1885 and the vote last fall, a work evidently of very great labor. The total population is given at 64,452,807, or 63,689,548 excluding the District of Columbia and the territories. The effect upon the changes in Congress and the Electoral College is then considered, by classification of states. New Jersey and Connecticut are included in the Democratic states, and New York, Indiana and West Virginia reckoned as doubtful. Hence there are 22 Republican states, 17 Democratic and 3 doubtful. The Republican states, including the new territories, will have in the present Congress 152 members, the Democratic 128, and the doubtful 51, counting four members to the Dakotas. The Press's table makes apportionments on a ratio of 192,999, which would leave the House with 331 members as at present, and also on ratios of 215,000, 220,000, 225,000 and 230,000. The first would give the Republican states 156, the Democratic 127, and the doubtful 48. Here is a Republican gain of 4, a Democratic loss of 1, and a loss to the doubtful states of 3. The opportunities on other ratios are of less interest, as the membership of the House is not likely to be diminished. The vote in the Electoral College will be 414, of which the Republicans will have 199, the Democrats 161, and the doubtful states 54. Necessary to elect, 208.

ALASKA MINERS IN PERIL.

400 of Them Locked Up in The Black Wilderness.

BALTIMORE'S JUBILEE.

President Harrison Reviewed A Parade To-Day.

THE END OF LONDON STRIKE.

ALASKA MINERS WHO MAY PERISH.

Four Hundred of Them Locked Up in the Black Wilderness.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 9.—The Inquirer publishes the following special dispatch from San Francisco: In a few weeks, possibly, the country may hear accounts of terrible privation and perhaps death among a party of 400 miners. They are locked up in the Black Wilderness of Alaska and believed to be without food. Yesterday a woman received from her son a letter written nearly a week ago. It was brief and read: "I'm alive, dear mother, but am buried under snow and ice far up on the Yukon River." The party originally left Juneau with the purpose of going beyond that post to the highest point in navigation in Juneau which is a trading point at which regular San Francisco packets touch. After crossing ranges of mountains and many rapids the valley of the Yukon is reached. Within this valley there is a village composed of 400 men who have already passed one winter in the terrible solitude. They have sent word that unless they could realize the hope of receiving help before the approach of the winter months all would be lost. They have already spent one winter in the cheerless holes dug in the ground. They were provisioned for a year. Some of the men may have started for Point Barrow. Others may have floated down the Yukon and on the way became frozen or they may have taken the trip over the back route by way of Juneau. All who have gone North to the Arctic circle will surely be lost; while those who float down the Yukon may be saved by the steamer St. Paul, which has gone to their rescue.

THE BALTIMORE CELEBRATION BEGUN.

President Harrison and Other Prominent Persons Review the Great Parade.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 9.—The party which came over from Washington in the private car "Baltimore" were President Harrison, Secretaries Windom and Tracy and Marshall Ransdell. Private Secretary Halford is very ill in Washington and could not come. President Harrison came over to-day at the inauguration of the week's exercises instead of on the days of either the sham battles of North Point or the bombardment of Fort McHenry because in coming now he does not break up a whole week at Deer Park. Directly from the reception at the depot the President was escorted by the Reception Committee to the grand-stand. Along the route he received hearty cheers on all sides. On the reviewing stand were President Harrison, Ex-Mayor of Baltimore Hodges, of the Citizens' Reception Committee, Secretaries Windom and Tracey, Marshall Ransdell, Adjutant-General Kelton, President Charles F. Mayer, of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, and Henry Parr, President of the Corn and Flour Exchange. The great bell on the first float announcing the approach of the parade had passed, and at 11:15 Governor Jackson and Mayor Latrobe were driven up and joined the Presidential party on the reviewing stand and witnessed the parade as it passed.

PROBABLE LOSS OF LIFE AT A FIRE.

Rag and Old Junk Warehouse Destroyed in Albany this Afternoon.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Fire broke out on an upper floor of McArdle's four-story rag and junk and warehouse at 1:50 this afternoon. Thirty or 40 women and girls were employed in picking rags. Many of them escaped by stairways and fire-escapes but some were cut off by the dense smoke. One girl fell from a third-story window upon a pile of iron and was fatally hurt. Another followed a minute later and was badly injured. Both were breathing when taken to the hospital. Another was probably fatally burned. It is reported that others were caught in the building. The loss will be $40,000.

London Strike Nearly Over.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—In addition to the dock companies which have already acceded to the terms of other companies to-day signified their willingness to grant the demands of the men. The fund for the benefit of the striking workmen was augmented to-day by subscriptions amounting to £1,500 pounds. The leaders of the strike conferred with Cardinal Manning this morning.

Hon. Samuel S. Cox Dying.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 9.—Congressman Samuel Sullivan Cox is dying at his home, 13 East Twelfth-street. Four days ago he was confined to his bed by an attack of what he supposed to be malarial fever. This rapidly developed into acute pneumonia, which has defied the best medical aid. Yesterday his physician gave up all hope, and announced that the days of the statesman humorist could be numbered on the fingers of one hand.

That Assembly Ceiling Once More.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ALBANY, Sept. 9.—All the witnesses who testified before the two Assembly Ceiling Special investigating committees last winter have been subpoenaed by Attorney General Tabor to appear before the Grand Jury of Albany County on Thursday and Friday of this week.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The following were appointed fourth-class Postmasters in New-York State to-day: F. O. Wicker, Hemlock Lake; J. E. Armstrong, Long Eddy; T. J. Eldridge, North Creek; Alonzo A. Rhoades, West-Contansble.

Unknown Man Fatally Injured.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

The Flack Divorce Case.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—It is believed Treasurer Dana, of the Douglass Axe Company, and his son have sailed for Buenos Ayres.

NEWS FROM POINTS FAR AND NEAR.

Tidings in Brief that the Telegraph, Cable and Mail Have Brought.

Brown-Sequard has again been heard from. He has just reached Paris from Brighton, where he passed the Silly Season. Apparently unmindful of the fact that he has already done a great deal of harm by springing his vitality-giver upon a credulous world, the doctor insists that his process is all that he has claimed in its behalf. He objects to the word "elixir," condemns ignorant experimentalists, and will try the stuff on all the rabbits he can get hold of.

The widow of a Revolutionary soldier, Mrs. Elizabeth Willingford, better known as 'Grandmother" or "Betty" Willingford, died at Mankota, Minn., on Friday night, aged 93. Her husband, Jonathan Willingford, was but 18 when he enlisted in the Revolutionary Army, and he was 50 years old when he married.

There is a great rush for home on the part of American tourists. Some 200 of them couldn't get berths on Saturday, and had to wait over in London, Liverpool and Glasgow. The big London strike has tied up the Wilson steamers.

A Miss May Marchand, of Chicago, is to go over Niagara Falls in a barrel. Why not get a hogshead and wait till the cranks should pack it full with their own precious bodies and then let it go?

Premier Crispi, of the Italian Government, has sent a check for 1,000 francs to the Italian gentlemen of New-York who are raising money for the erection of a statue of Christopher Columbus.

London's loss through the strike to date is estimated between £1,500,000 and £2,000,000.

The steamer Werra from Bremen has arrived at New-York.

Senator Sherman is due at New-York City this week.

A lot of Sioux Chiefs are en route to Washington.

John Russell Young is at Carlsbad.

The Farm and Garden.

The bottoms of all manure pits, if large quantities of manure are to be accumulated, should be well covered with cut straw, leaves, earth or any other absorbent material. The heap should be made on still clay land, if possible, so as to avoid leaching of the liquids into the subsoil. The thicker the bottom is covered with absorbent materials the better, especially if the ground is porous. The amount of valuable fertilizing material carried down into the ground and lost is enormous, and much of it can be saved with care.

About one and a half pounds of corn will suffice as a grain ration for one sheep if the animal is given all the hay or grass it desires. The breeding ewes, however, should be allowed oats in preference to corn. To fatten a wether give a mess of cooked turnips and corn meal, with the other food, and it will gain rapidly.

A Nebraska fruit-grower thus states the results obtained on a small plot of ground: "I sold 1,528 quarts of raspberries, which netted me $150.28, and 796 quarts of blackberries, which netted $70. These were from one and one-sixteenth acres of land [measured] and do not include the quantity eaten, canned and given away."

The bronze is the largest breed of turkey, and gobblers three years old have been known to weigh 50 pounds before being killed and dressed for market.

Cut straw as bedding for sheep keeps the dirt out of the wool and affords a dry place for the sheep at night.

Concerning Prominent People.

Dr. Briand, a distinguished young French physician attached to the hospital at Villejuif, is reported to have effected some wonderful cures of consumption by means of the cold-air cure, which consists mainly in gradually accustoming the patients to exposure until they are able to sleep out in the open air, regardless of the weather.

Joel Benton will preside at the Halleck session to be held in connection with the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary celebration at Guilford, Conn., this week, and will also read a poem on one of the three days devoted to the commemoration.

The death is announced of the Rev. Samuel Beal, D. C. L., the distinguished Oriental scholar and Professor of Chinese in London University.

Sir Henry Parkes, the Premier of New-South-Wales, intends, it is said, to introduce a bill conferring the suffrage upon women.

Mme. C. Carnot, mother of the President of the French Republic, ascended to the top of the Eiffel Tower the other day.

The ex-Empress Eugenie has lost one of her oldest and dearest friends by the death of the wife of Marshal Canrobert.

General Theatrical Notes.

Victoria Vokes will begin her season in this country at the Arch-Street Theatre, Philadelphia, on September 16. She will probably be seen first in "Hubby," and later on in "The Doctress."

The last nights of "The Brigands" at the Casino, New-York City, are announced. The run will end next Saturday night. "The Drum Major" is promised for September 16.

Bronson Howard's new play, "Shenandoah," will be produced at the Star Theatre, New-York City, to-night, after careful rehearsals under his own personal direction.

THE STOCK AND MONEY MARKET.

Financial Doings on Wall-Street To-Day—The Closing Quotations.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 9.—The opening of the stock market this morning was again active and steady, first prices showing advances over Saturday's closing figures of ¼ to ½ per cent. The upward movement was general, and further fractional improvement was made all over the list.

Marlborough Men and Matters.

William Purdy and J. Odell, sons of Herbert Purdy and C. Odell, returned from a four days' fishing trip along the Atlantic Coast, on Friday. They brought 50 pounds of fish.

Hunters who have for years traveled over Marlborough Mountains in search of game, say that the wet weather has killed off woodcock and quail.

Thieves stole an entire crop of melons from the garden of A. DuBois on Tuesday night, of last week.

The members of the Ketcham Post Brass Band Association talk of building a meeting room

Fruit-growers here complain that they are over-assessed.

A Newburgh Story Denied.

The society people of Newburgh are much exercised by stories published in a newspaper there about Mrs. William Carson, the widow of Ex-Mayor Carson, being influenced by spiritualistic frauds, who were endeavoring to secure her wealth. The method alleged was the sending of messages from her dead husband saying he would be pleased to have her marry a Dr. George, of Auburn. The story is denied by Mrs. Carson, and Dr. George is highly spoken of by all who know him. He is a veteran army surgeon and a man of wealth and respectability.

VALUABLE LAND CLAIMED

By a Once Fugitive Slave In Logansport, Indiana.

THE FRENCH ELECTIONS.

Bishop of Seez Protests Against Letter from Minister of Justice.

FIVE PERSONS DROWNED.

FORMER FUGITIVE SLAVE'S TITLE

To Valuable Land in City of Logansport Said to be Indisputable.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 9.—The descendants of Benjamin Talbot, colored, lay claim to about 640 acres covering the central portion of the City of Logansport, Ind. Talbot, while a slave, settled at Logansport 53 years ago with J. McBane and family from Yellow Springs, Ky. He bought from the Government 640 acres of land and lived on it until the passage of the fugitive slave law, when he abandoned his property and fled to Canada. He never returned to claim it, but often spoke of it to his children. Not long ago one of them put the matter into the hands of attorneys who, upon examination, found Talbot's title indisputable. It is said the Wabash & Eel River Railroad with valuable buildings on the Talbot ground, have already compromised. The entire property is estimated to be worth several millions. There are four sons and two daughters who are the heirs. One of the sons, Henry Talbot, has not been heard from for several years.

WHAT THE BISHOP OF SEEZ HAS TO SAY

In Relation to Letter Written by the French Minister of Justice.

By Cable to The Freeman.

PARIS, Sept. 9.—The Bishop of Seez has written to M. Thevenet, Minister of Justice, protesting against the circular recently sent by the Minister to the Bishops, reminding them that they are forbidden by law from taking part in the elections, and stating that the Government would prosecute any ecclesiastic who might overstep the lines enjoined under all governments since the Concordat. The Bishop says the circular of the Minister of Justice wounds the dignity and patriotism of the clergy. "As French citizens," he says, "we claim our rights, of which you cannot deprive us."

NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE number of children who returned to their places in the public schools of New-York city this morning is estimated at 150,000. There will also be about 100,000 in the corporate, parochial and private schools. The whole number of children taught in the public schools last year was 282,701, and this number will be raised to nearly 300,000 during the present year. From these figures it is fair to infer that the total population of the city is rapidly approaching 2,000,000.

PRESIDENT HARRISON has decided to not call an extra session of Congress. The necessity which seemed so imperative at the time of the inauguration has been growing gradually less until it has disappeared altogether. Public confidence was inspired by Republican success, and business revived without waiting for the wholesome tariff legislation which is sure to come. When Congress meets for the regular session the new states will have elected their Senators and Representatives, and the vacancies caused by death in the House will have been filled. Thus every state and district will be ready to take its part in the work of the session.

THAT duel of Columbus editors did not come off for the reason that one of them, Mr. Huff, was shadowed by the police, and could not get out of the city. His antagonist, Patterson, with his second and physician, and also the equivalent members of Huff's party, succeeded in reaching the fighting grounds, but of course there could be no "fun" with one of the principals absent. In the days when the duel was popular the second would would have taken his friend's place and defended his "honah, sah," but this did not happen in the present case. Another duel may possibly be arranged, but in that event it will be Patterson's turn to get himself shadowed.

THE Sun prints a long letter this morning, giving the information that the splendid endowment of the Johns Hopkins university of Baltimore has been swept away in the wreck of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. The University held 1,500 shares of Baltimore & Ohio stock, which for many years paid an annual dividend of 10 per cent, making the University's income therefrom $150,000. When the crash came the dividends ceased, and the University has since been living on gifts and borrowed money and cutting the salaries of its professors. If there is no exaggeration in the story, Baltimore has experienced one of the greatest misfortunes that ever befell an American city.

THE candidacy of John L. Sullivan for Congress calls to mind the modesty of John Morrisey, professional slugger but not champion of the world. Mr. Morrisey, who had no inordinate estimate of his abilities, called upon Speaker Colfax in relation to his assignment upon committees. He told the Speaker of his inexperience and lack of ambition for places he was not fitted to fill. "If I must go upon a committee," said he, "put me where I will have nothing to do." The Speaker smiled his famous smile but said nothing. In a few days he announced his committees, when Mr. Morrisey was delighted to find that he had been selected to adorn the tail of the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions.

THERE are two matrimonial agencies at Jeffersonville, Ind., opposite the city of Louisville. These have worked together until recently. Their plan was to watch the ferryboats and trains, and when they saw a couple apparently on matrimony bent, step forward and tender their kind offices. For years the price for a complete outfit, including license, minister, witnesses, and professional oath-taker to swear to the lady's age, was $7.50. But lately they have been cutting each other, and the price is now $3. Indiana formerly enjoyed an unrivaled reputation for cheap divorce, but a few years ago got ashamed of herself and improved her divorce law. This stimulus to marriage may contribute in part to atone for the mischief done in sundering the marriage tie when the state was less civilized than at present.

THE plea of the New York Sun for Robert Ray Hamilton, which we publish on the second page, may be summed up in half a dozen words: "Give the young man another chance." Of course much will depend upon Mr. Hamilton's force of character and self-control, if he is to be restored to the position from which he has fallen. In this connection the fact may be referred to as a matter of history, that Mr. Hamilton's great grandfather, Alexander Hamilton, was once detected in an intrigue with a dissolute woman, and publicly confessed and lamented his folly. It hardly checked his great career, for the reason that the new nation needed a man of his transcendent genius, and could find no other to fill his place. Men of great ability are not so scarce now as in Alexander Hamilton's time, while emergencies like those that made him indispensable are fewer. Robert Ray Hamilton is running a race with a whole army of bright and earnest competitors, and it is a race in which character as well as genius counts.

THE New York Press, whose editor is the Superintendent of the Census, publishes an estimate on the population of the states and territories, taken from the census of 1885 and the vote last fall, a work evidently of very great labor. The total population is given at 64,452,807, or 63,689,548 excluding the District of Columbia and the territories. The effect upon the changes in Congress and the Electoral College is then considered, by classification of states. New Jersey and Connecticut are included in the Democratic states, and New York, Indiana and West Virginia reckoned as doubtful. Hence there are 22 Republican states, 17 Democratic and 3 doubtful. The Republican states, including the new territories, will have in the present Congress 152 members, the Democratic 128, and the doubtful 51, counting four members to the Dakotas. The Press's table makes apportionments on a ratio of 192,999, which would leave the House with 331 members as at present, and also on ratios of 215,000, 220,000, 225,000 and 230,000. The first would give the Republican states 156, the Democratic 127, and the doubtful 48. Here is a Republican gain of 4, a Democratic loss of 1, and a loss to the doubtful states of 3. The opportunities on other ratios are of less interest, as the membership of the House is not likely to be diminished. The vote in the Electoral College will be 414, of which the Republicans will have 199, the Democrats 161, and the doubtful states 54. Necessary to elect, 208.

ALASKA MINERS IN PERIL.

400 of Them Locked Up in The Black Wilderness.

BALTIMORE'S JUBILEE.

President Harrison Reviewed A Parade To-Day.

THE END OF LONDON STRIKE.

ALASKA MINERS WHO MAY PERISH.

Four Hundred of Them Locked Up in the Black Wilderness.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 9.—The Inquirer publishes the following special dispatch from San Francisco: In a few weeks, possibly, the country may hear accounts of terrible privation and perhaps death among a party of 400 miners. They are locked up in the Black Wilderness of Alaska and believed to be without food. Yesterday a woman received from her son a letter written nearly a week ago. It was brief and read: "I'm alive, dear mother, but am buried under snow and ice far up on the Yukon River." The party originally left Juneau with the purpose of going beyond that post to the highest point in navigation in Juneau which is a trading point at which regular San Francisco packets touch. After crossing ranges of mountains and many rapids the valley of the Yukon is reached. Within this valley there is a village composed of 400 men who have already passed one winter in the terrible solitude. They have sent word that unless they could realize the hope of receiving help before the approach of the winter months all would be lost. They have already spent one winter in the cheerless holes dug in the ground. They were provisioned for a year. Some of the men may have started for Point Barrow. Others may have floated down the Yukon and on the way became frozen or they may have taken the trip over the back route by way of Juneau. All who have gone North to the Arctic circle will surely be lost; while those who float down the Yukon may be saved by the steamer St. Paul, which has gone to their rescue.

THE BALTIMORE CELEBRATION BEGUN.

President Harrison and Other Prominent Persons Review the Great Parade.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 9.—The party which came over from Washington in the private car "Baltimore" were President Harrison, Secretaries Windom and Tracy and Marshall Ransdell. Private Secretary Halford is very ill in Washington and could not come. President Harrison came over to-day at the inauguration of the week's exercises instead of on the days of either the sham battles of North Point or the bombardment of Fort McHenry because in coming now he does not break up a whole week at Deer Park. Directly from the reception at the depot the President was escorted by the Reception Committee to the grand-stand. Along the route he received hearty cheers on all sides. On the reviewing stand were President Harrison, Ex-Mayor of Baltimore Hodges, of the Citizens' Reception Committee, Secretaries Windom and Tracey, Marshall Ransdell, Adjutant-General Kelton, President Charles F. Mayer, of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, and Henry Parr, President of the Corn and Flour Exchange. The great bell on the first float announcing the approach of the parade had passed, and at 11:15 Governor Jackson and Mayor Latrobe were driven up and joined the Presidential party on the reviewing stand and witnessed the parade as it passed.

PROBABLE LOSS OF LIFE AT A FIRE.

Rag and Old Junk Warehouse Destroyed in Albany this Afternoon.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Fire broke out on an upper floor of McArdle's four-story rag and junk and warehouse at 1:50 this afternoon. Thirty or 40 women and girls were employed in picking rags. Many of them escaped by stairways and fire-escapes but some were cut off by the dense smoke. One girl fell from a third-story window upon a pile of iron and was fatally hurt. Another followed a minute later and was badly injured. Both were breathing when taken to the hospital. Another was probably fatally burned. It is reported that others were caught in the building. The loss will be $40,000.

London Strike Nearly Over.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—In addition to the dock companies which have already acceded to the terms of other companies to-day signified their willingness to grant the demands of the men. The fund for the benefit of the striking workmen was augmented to-day by subscriptions amounting to £1,500 pounds. The leaders of the strike conferred with Cardinal Manning this morning.

Hon. Samuel S. Cox Dying.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 9.—Congressman Samuel Sullivan Cox is dying at his home, 13 East Twelfth-street. Four days ago he was confined to his bed by an attack of what he supposed to be malarial fever. This rapidly developed into acute pneumonia, which has defied the best medical aid. Yesterday his physician gave up all hope, and announced that the days of the statesman humorist could be numbered on the fingers of one hand.

That Assembly Ceiling Once More.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ALBANY, Sept. 9.—All the witnesses who testified before the two Assembly Ceiling Special investigating committees last winter have been subpoenaed by Attorney General Tabor to appear before the Grand Jury of Albany County on Thursday and Friday of this week.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The following were appointed fourth-class Postmasters in New-York State to-day: F. O. Wicker, Hemlock Lake; J. E. Armstrong, Long Eddy; T. J. Eldridge, North Creek; Alonzo A. Rhoades, West Contansble.

Unknown Man Fatally Injured.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ROCHESTER, Sept. 9.—The body of an unknown man was found on the Auburn Division of the Central Railroad this morning. His head and both legs were crushed to a pulp. He will die.

The Flack Divorce Case.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 9.—The Grand Jury is continuing its consideration of the Flack divorce case. Lawyer Wright and Referee Meeks were examined to-day.

Dana Has Gone to Buenos Ayres.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—It is believed Treasurer Dana, of the Douglass Axe Company, and his son have sailed for Buenos Ayres.

NEWS FROM POINTS FAR AND NEAR.

Tidings in Brief that the Telegraph, Cable and Mail Have Brought.

Brown-Sequard has again been heard from. He has just reached Paris from Brighton, where he passed the Silly Season. Apparently unmindful of the fact that he has already done a great deal of harm by springing his vitality-giver upon a credulous world, the doctor insists that his process is all that he has claimed in its behalf. He objects to the word "elixir," condemns ignorant experimentalists, and will try the stuff on all the rabbits he can get hold of.

The widow of a Revolutionary soldier, Mrs. Elizabeth Willingford, better known as "Grandmother" or "Betsy" Willingford, died at Mankota, Minn., on Friday night, aged 93. Her husband, Jonathan Willingford, was but 18 when he enlisted in the Revolutionary Army, and he was 50 years old when he married.

There is a great rush for home on the part of American tourists. Some 200 of them couldn't get berths on Saturday, and had to wait over in London, Liverpool and Glasgow. The big London strike has tied up the Wilson steamers.

A Miss May Marchand, of Chicago, is to go over Niagara Falls in a barrel. Why not get a hogshead and wait till the cranks should pack it full with their own precious bodies and then let it go?

Premier Crispi, of the Italian Government, has sent a check for 1,000 francs to the Italian gentlemen of New-York who are raising money for the erection of a statue of Christopher Columbus.

London's loss through the strike to date is estimated between £1,500,000 and £2,000,000.

The steamer Werra from Bremen has arrived at New-York.

Senator Sherman is due at New-York City this week.

A lot of Sioux Chiefs are en route to Washington.

John Russell Young is at Carlsbad.

The Farm and Garden.

The bottoms of all manure pits, if large quantities of manure are to be accumulated, should be well covered with cut straw, leaves, earth or any other absorbent material. The heap should be made on stiff clay land, if possible, so as to avoid leaching of the liquids into the subsoil. The thicker the bottom is covered with absorbent materials the better, especially if the ground is porous. The amount of valuable fertilizing material carried down into the ground and lost is enormous, and much of it can be saved with care.

About one and a half pounds of corn will suffice as a grain ration for one sheep if the animal is given all the hay or grass it desires. The breeding ewes, however, should be allowed oats in preference to corn. To fatten a wether give a mess of cooked turnips and corn meal, with the other food, and it will gain rapidly.

A Nebraska fruit-grower thus states the results obtained on a small plot of ground: "I sold 1,528 quarts of raspberries, which netted me $150.28, and 796 quarts of blackberries, which netted $70. These were from one and one-sixteenth acres of land [measured] and do not include the quantity eaten, canned and given away."

The bronze is the largest breed of turkey, and gobblers three years old have been known to weigh 50 pounds before being killed and dressed for market.

Cut straw as bedding for sheep keeps the dirt out of the wool and affords a dry place for the sheep at night.

Concerning Prominent People.

Dr. Briand, a distinguished young French physician attached to the hospital at Villejuif, is reported to have effected some wonderful cures of consumption by means of the cold-air cure, which consists mainly in gradually accustoming the patients to exposure until they are able to sleep out in the open air, regardless of the weather.

Joel Benton will preside at the Halleck session to be held in connection with the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary celebration at Guilford, Conn., this week, and will also read a poem on one of the three days devoted to the commemoration.

The death is announced of the Rev. Samuel Beal, D. C. L., the distinguished Oriental scholar and Professor of Chinese in London University.

Sir Henry Parkes, the Premier of New-South-Wales, intends, it is said, to introduce a bill conferring the suffrage upon women.

Mme. C. Carnot, mother of the President of the French Republic, ascended to the top of the Eiffel Tower the other day.

The ex-Empress Eugenie has lost one of her oldest and dearest friends by the death of the wife of Marshal Canrobert.

General Theatrical Notes.

Victoria Vokes will begin her season in this country at the Arch-Street Theatre, Philadelphia, on September 16. She will probably be seen first in "Hubby," and later on in "The Doctress."

The last nights of "The Brigands" at the Casino, New-York City, are announced. The run will end next Saturday night. "The Drum Major" is promised for September 16.

Bronson Howard's new play, "Shenandoah," will be produced at the Star Theatre, New-York City, to-night, after careful rehearsals under his own personal direction.

THE STOCK AND MONEY MARKET.

Financial Doings on Wall-Street To-Day—The Closing Quotations.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 9.—The opening of the stock market this morning was again active and steady, first prices showing advances over Saturday's closing figures of ¼ to ½ per cent. The upward movement was general, and further fractional improvement was made all over the list.

VALUABLE LAND CLAIMED

By a Once Fugitive Slave In Logansport, Indiana.

THE FRENCH ELECTIONS.

Bishop of Seez Protests Against Letter from Minister of Justice.

FIVE PERSONS DROWNED.

FORMER FUGITIVE SLAVE'S TITLE

To Valuable Land in City of Logansport Said to be Indisputable.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 9.—The descendants of Benjamin Talbot, colored, lay claim to about 640 acres covering the central portion of the City of Logansport, Ind. Talbot, while a slave, settled at Logansport 53 years ago with J. McBane and family from Yellow Springs, Ky. He bought from the Government 640 acres of land and lived on it until the passage of the fugitive slave law, when he abandoned his property and fled to Canada. He never returned to claim it, but often spoke of it to his children. Not long ago one of them put the matter into the hands of attorneys who, upon examination, found Talbot's title indisputable. It is said the Wabash & Eel River Railroad with valuable buildings on the Talbot ground, have already compromised. The entire property is estimated to be worth several millions. There are four sons and two daughters who are the heirs. One of the sons, Henry Talbot, has not been heard from for several years.

In Relation to Letter Written by the French Minister of Justice.

By Cable to The Freeman.

PARIS, Sept. 9.—The Bishop of Seez has written to M. Thevenet, Minister of Justice, protesting against the circular recently sent by the Minister to the Bishops, reminding them that they are forbidden by law from taking part in the elections, and stating that the Government would prosecute any ecclesiastic who might overstep the lines enjoined under all governments since the Concordat. The Bishop says the circular of the Minister of Justice wounds the dignity and patriotism of the clergy. "As French citizens," he says, "we claim our rights, of which you cannot deprive us."

A praying band from Newburgh holds semi-monthly services in the chapel at Roseton on Sunday afternoons.

The Society of Christian Endeavor held a meeting in the chapel of the Presbyterian Church on Friday night.

Thieves stole an entire crop of melons from the garden of A. DuBois on Tuesday night, of last week.

The members of the Ketcham Post Brass Band Association talk of building a meeting room.

Fruit-growers here complain that they are over-assessed.

A Newburgh Story Denied.

The society people of Newburgh are much exercised by stories published in a newspaper there about Mrs. William Carson, the widow of Ex-Mayor Carson, being influenced by spiritualistic frauds, who were endeavoring to secure her wealth. The method alleged was the sending of messages from her dead husband saying he would be pleased to have her marry a Dr. George, of Auburn. The story is denied by Mrs. Carson, and Dr. George is highly spoken of by all who know him. He is a veteran army surgeon and a man of wealth and respectability.

NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE number of children who returned to their places in the public schools of New-York city this morning is estimated at 150,000. There will also be about 100,000 in the corporate, parochial and private schools. The whole number of children taught in the public schools last year was 282,701, and this number will be raised to nearly 300,000 during the present year. From these figures it is fair to infer that the total population of the city is rapidly approaching 2,000,000.

PRESIDENT HARRISON has decided to not call an extra session of Congress. The necessity which seemed so imperative at the time of the inauguration has been growing gradually less until it has disappeared altogether. Public confidence was inspired by Republican success, and business revived without waiting for the wholesome tariff legislation which is sure to come. When Congress meets for the regular session the new states will have elected their Senators and Representatives, and the vacancies caused by death in the House will have been filled. Thus every state and district will be ready to take its part in the work of the session.

THAT duel of Columbus editors did not come off for the reason that one of them, Mr. Huff, was shadowed by the police, and could not get out of the city. His antagonist, Patterson, with his second and physician, and also the equivalent members of Huff's party, succeeded in reaching the fighting grounds, but of course there could be no "fun" with one of the principals absent. In the days when the duel was popular the second would would have taken his friend's place and defended his "honah, sah," but this did not happen in the present case. Another duel may possibly be arranged, but in that event it will be Patterson's turn to get himself shadowed.

THE Sun prints a long letter this morning, giving the information that the splendid endowment of the Johns Hopkins university of Baltimore has been swept away in the wreck of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. The University held 1,500 shares of Baltimore & Ohio stock, which for many years paid an annual dividend of 10 per cent, making the University's income therefrom $150,000. When the crash came the dividends ceased, and the University has since been living on gifts and borrowed money and cutting the salaries of its professors. If there is no exaggeration in the story, Baltimore has experienced one of the greatest misfortunes that ever befell an American city.

THE candidacy of John L. Sullivan for Congress calls to mind the modesty of John Morrisey, professional slugger but not champion of the world. Mr. Morrisey, who had no inordinate estimate of his abilities, called upon Speaker Colfax in relation to his assignment upon committees. He told the Speaker of his inexperience and lack of ambition for places he was not fitted to fill. "If I must go upon a committee," said he, "put me where I will have nothing to do." The Speaker smiled his famous smile but said nothing. In a few days he announced his committees, when Mr. Morrisey was delighted to find that he had been selected to adorn the tail of the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions.

THERE are two matrimonial agencies at Jeffersonville, Ind., opposite the city of Louisville. These have worked together until recently. Their plan was to watch the ferryboats and trains, and when they saw a couple apparently on matrimony bent, step forward and tender their kind offices. For years the price for a complete outfit, including license, minister, witnesses, and professional oath-taker to swear to the lady's age, was $7.50. But lately they have been cutting each other, and the price is now $3. Indiana formerly enjoyed an unrivaled reputation for cheap divorce, but a few years ago got ashamed of herself and improved her divorce law. This stimulus to marriage may contribute in part to atone for the mischief done in murdering the marriage tie when the state was less civilized than at present.

THE plea of the New York Sun for Robert Ray Hamilton, which we publish on the second page, may be summed up in half a dozen words: "Give the young man another chance." Of course much will depend upon Mr. Hamilton's force of character and self-control, if he is to be restored to the position from which he has fallen. In this connection the fact may be referred to as a matter of history, that Mr. Hamilton's great grandfather, Alexander Hamilton, was once detected in an intrigue with a dissolute woman, and publicly confessed and lamented his folly. It hardly checked his great career, for the reason that the new nation needed a man of his transcendent genius, and could find no other to fill his place. Men of great ability are not so scarce now as in Alexander Hamilton's time, while emergencies like those that made him indispensable are fewer. Robert Ray Hamilton is running a race with a whole army of bright and earnest competitors, and it is a race in which character as well as gen. ius counts.

THE New York Press, whose editor is the Superintendent of the Census, publishes an estimate on the population of the states and territories, taken from the census of 1885 and the vote last fall, a work evidently of very great labor. The total population is given at 64,452,807, or 63,689,548 excluding the District of Columbia and the territories. The effect upon the changes in Congress and the Electoral College is then considered, by classification of states. New Jersey and Connecticut are included in the Democratic states, and New York, Indiana and West Virginia reckoned as doubtful. Hence there are 22 Republican states, 17 Democratic and 3 doubtful. The Republican states, including the new territories, will have in the present Congress 152 members, the Democratic 128, and the doubtful 51, counting four members to the Dakotas. The Press's table makes apportionments on a ratio of 192,999, which would leave the House with 331 members as at present, and also on ratios of 215,000, 220,000, 225,000 and 230,000. The first would give the Republican states 156, the Democratic 127, and the doubtful 48. Here is a Republican gain of 4, a Democratic loss of 1, and a loss to the doubtful states of 3. The opportunities on other ratios are of less interest, as the membership of the House is not likely to be diminished. The vote in the Electoral College will be 414, of which the Republicans will have 199, the Democrats 161, and the doubtful states 54. Necessary to elect, 208.

ALASKA MINERS IN PERIL.

400 of Them Locked Up in The Black Wilderness.

BALTIMORE'S JUBILEE.

President Harrison Reviewed A Parade To-Day.

THE END OF LONDON STRIKE.

ALASKA MINERS WHO MAY PERISH.

Four Hundred of Them Locked Up in the Black Wilderness.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 9.—The Inquirer publishes the following special dispatch from San Francisco: In a few weeks, possibly, the country may hear accounts of terrible privation and perhaps death among a party of 400 miners. They are locked up in the Black Wilderness of Alaska and believed to be without food. Yesterday a woman received from her son a letter written nearly a week ago. It was brief and read: "I'm alive, dear mother, but am buried under snow and ice far up on the Yukon River." The party originally left Juneau with the purpose of going beyond that post to the highest point in navigation in Juneau which is a trading point at which regular San Francisco packets touch. After crossing ranges of mountains and many rapids the valley of the Yukon is reached. Within this valley there is a village composed of 400 men who have already passed one winter in the terrible solitude. They have sent word that unless they could realize the hope of receiving help before the approach of the winter months all would be lost. They have already spent one winter in the cheerless holes dug in the ground. They were provisioned for a year. Some of the men may have started for Point Barrow. Others may have floated down the Yukon and on the way became frozen or they may have taken the trip over the back route by way of Juneau. All who have gone North to the Arctic circle will surely be lost; while those who float down the Yukon may be saved by the steamer St. Paul, which has gone to their rescue.

THE BALTIMORE CELEBRATION BEGUN.

President Harrison and Other Prominent Persons Review the Great Parade.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 9.—The party which came over from Washington in the private car "Baltimore" were President Harrison, Secretaries Windom and Tracy and Marshall Ransdell. Private Secretary Halford is very ill in Washington and could not come. President Harrison came over to-day at the inauguration of the week's exercises instead of on the days of either the sham battles of North Point or the bombardment of Fort McHenry because in coming now he does not break up a whole week at Deer Park. Directly from the reception at the depot the President was escorted by the Reception Committee to the grand-stand. Along the route he received hearty cheers on all sides. On the reviewing stand were President Harrison, Ex-Mayor of Baltimore Hodges, of the Citizens' Reception Committee, Secretaries Windom and Tracey, Marshall Ransdell, Adjutant-General Kelton, President Charles F. Mayer, of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, and Henry Parr, President of the Corn and Flour Exchange. The great bell on the first float announcing the approach of the parade had passed, and at 11:15 Governor Jackson and Mayor Latrobe were driven up and joined the Presidential party on the reviewing stand and witnessed the parade as it passed.

PROBABLE LOSS OF LIFE AT A FIRE.

Rag and Old Junk Warehouse Destroyed in Albany this Afternoon.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Fire broke out on an upper floor of McArdle's four-story rag and junk and warehouse at 1:50 this afternoon. Thirty or 40 women and girls were employed in picking rags. Many of them escaped by stairways and fire-escapes but some were cut off by the dense smoke. One girl fell from a third-story window upon a pile of iron and was fatally hurt. Another followed a minute later and was badly injured. Both were breathing when taken to the hospital. Another was probably fatally burned. It is reported that others were caught in the building. The loss will be $40,000.

London Strike Nearly Over.

By Cable to The Freeman.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—In addition to the dock companies which have already acceded to the terms of other companies to-day signified their willingness to grant the demands of the men. The fund for the benefit of the striking workmen was augmented to-day by subscriptions amounting to £1,500 pounds. The leaders of the strike conferred with Cardinal Manning this morning.

Hon. Samuel S. Cox Dying.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 9.—Congressman Samuel Sullivan Cox is dying at his home, 13 East Twelfth-street. Four days ago he was confined to his bed by an attack of what he supposed to be malarial fever. This rapidly developed into acute pneumonia, which has defied the best medical aid. Yesterday his physician gave up all hope, and announced that the days of the statesman humorist could be numbered on the fingers of one hand.

That Assembly Ceiling Once More.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ALBANY, Sept. 9.—All the witnesses who testified before the two Assembly Ceiling Special investigating committees last winter have been subpoenaed by Attorney General Tabor to appear before the Grand Jury of Albany County on Thursday and Friday of this week.

Postmasters Appointed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The following were appointed fourth-class Postmasters in New-York State to-day: F. O. Wicker, Hemlock Lake; J. E. Armstrong, Long Eddy; T. J. Eldridge, North Creek; Alonzo A. Rhoades, West-Contansble.

Unknown Man Fatally Injured.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

ROCHESTER, Sept. 9.—The body of an unknown man was found on the Auburn Division of the Central Railroad this morning. His head and both legs were crushed to a pulp. He will die.

The Flack Divorce Case.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 9.—The Grand Jury is continuing its consideration of the Flack divorce case. Lawyer Wright and Referee Meeks were examined to-day.

Dana Has Gone to Buenos Ayres.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—It is believed Treasurer Dana, of the Douglass Axe Company, and his son have sailed for Buenos Ayres.

NEWS FROM POINTS FAR AND NEAR.

Tidings in Brief that the Telegraph, Cable and Mail Have Brought.

Brown-Sequard has again been heard from. He has just reached Paris from Brighton, where he passed the Silly Season. Apparently unmindful of the fact that he has already done a great deal of harm by springing his vitality-giver upon a credulous world, the doctor insists that his process is all that he has claimed in its behalf. He objects to the word "elixir," condemns ignorant experimentalists, and will try the stuff on all the rabbits he can get hold of.

The widow of a Revolutionary soldier, Mrs. Elizabeth Willingford, better known as "Grandmother" or "Betsy" Willingford, died at Mankota, Minn., on Friday night, aged 93. Her husband, Jonathan Willingford, was but 18 when he enlisted in the Revolutionary Army, and he was 50 years old when he married.

There is a great rush for home on the part of American tourists. Some 200 of them couldn't get berths on Saturday, and had to wait over in London, Liverpool and Glasgow. The big London strike has tied up the Wilson steamers.

A Miss May Marchand, of Chicago, is to go over Niagara Falls in a barrel. Why not get a hogshead and wait till the cranks should pack it full with their own precious bodies and then let it go?

Premier Crispi, of the Italian Government, has sent a check for 1,000 francs to the Italian gentlemen of New-York who are raising money for the erection of a statue of Christopher Columbus.

London's loss through the strike to date is estimated between £1,500,000 and £2,000,000.

The steamer Werra from Bremen has arrived at New-York.

Senator Sherman is due at New-York City this week.

A lot of Sioux Chiefs are en route to Washington.

John Russell Young is at Carlsbad.

The Farm and Garden.

The bottoms of all manure pits, if large quantities of manure are to be accumulated, should be well covered with cut straw, leaves, earth or any other absorbent material. The heap should be made on stiff clay land, if possible, so as to avoid leaching of the liquids into the subsoil. The thicker the bottom is covered with absorbent materials the better, especially if the ground is porous. The amount of valuable fertilizing material carried down into the ground and lost is enormous, and much of it can be saved with care.

About one and a half pounds of corn will suffice as a grain ration for one sheep if the animal is given all the hay or grass it desires. The breeding ewes, however, should be allowed oats in preference to corn. To fatten a wether give a mess of cooked turnips and corn meal, with the other food, and it will gain rapidly.

A Nebraska fruit-grower thus states the results obtained on a small plot of ground: "I sold 1,528 quarts of raspberries, which netted me $150.28, and 796 quarts of blackberries, which netted $70. These were from one and one-sixteenth acres of land [measured] and do not include the quantity eaten, canned and given away."

The bronze is the largest breed of turkey, and gobblers three years old have been known to weigh 50 pounds before being killed and dressed for market.

Cut straw as bedding for sheep keeps the dirt out of the wool and affords a dry place for the sheep at night.

Concerning Prominent People.

Dr. Briand, a distinguished young French physician attached to the hospital at Villejuif, is reported to have effected some wonderful cures of consumption by means of the cold-air cure, which consists mainly in gradually accustoming the patients to exposure until they are able to sleep out in the open air, regardless of the weather.

Joel Benton will preside at the Halleck session to be held in connection with the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary celebration at Guilford, Conn., this week, and will also read a poem on one of the three days devoted to the commemoration.

The death is announced of the Rev. Samuel Beal, D. C. L., the distinguished Oriental scholar and Professor of Chinese in London University.

Sir Henry Parkes, the Premier of New-South-Wales, intends, it is said, to introduce a bill conferring the suffrage upon women.

Mme. C. Carnot, mother of the President of the French Republic, ascended to the top of the Eiffel Tower the other day.

The ex-Empress Eugenie has lost one of her oldest and dearest friends by the death of the wife of Marshal Canrobert.

General Theatrical Notes.

Victoria Vokes will begin her season in this country at the Arch-Street Theatre, Philadelphia, on September 16. She will probably be seen first in "Hubby," and later on in "The Doctress."

The last nights of "The Brigands" at the Casino, New-York City, are announced. The run will end next Saturday night. "The Drum Major" is promised for September 16.

Bronson Howard's new play, "Shenandoah," will be produced at the Star Theatre, New-York City, to-night, after careful rehearsals under his own personal direction.

THE STOCK AND MONEY MARKET.

Financial Doings on Wall-Street To-Day—The Closing Quotations.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 9.—The opening of the stock market this morning was again active and steady, first prices showing advances over Saturday's closing figures of ¼ to ½ per cent. The upward movement was general, and further fractional improvement was made all over the list.

VALUABLE LAND CLAIMED

By a Once Fugitive Slave In Logansport, Indiana.

THE FRENCH ELECTIONS.

Bishop of Seez Protests Against Letter from Minister of Justice.

FIVE PERSONS DROWNED.

FORMER FUGITIVE SLAVE'S TITLE

To Valuable Land in City of Logansport Said to be Indisputable.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 9.—The descendants of Benjamin Talbot, colored, lay claim to about 640 acres covering the central portion of the City of Logansport, Ind. Talbot, while a slave, settled at Logansport 53 years ago with J. McBane and family from Yellow Springs, Ky. He bought from the Government 640 acres of land and lived on it until the passage of the fugitive slave law, when he abandoned his property and fled to Canada. He never returned to claim it, but often spoke of it to his children. Not long ago one of them put the matter into the hands of attorneys who, upon examination, found Talbot's title indisputable. It is said the Wabash & Eel River Railroad with valuable buildings on the Talbot ground, have already compromised. The entire property is estimated to be worth several millions. There are four sons and two daughters who are the heirs. One of the sons, Henry Talbot, has not been heard from for several years.

In Relation to Letter Written by the French Minister of Justice.

By Cable to The Freeman.

PARIS, Sept. 9.—The Bishop of Seez has written to M. Thevenet, Minister of Justice, protesting against the circular recently sent by the Minister to the Bishops, reminding them that they are forbidden by law from taking part in the elections, and stating that the Government would prosecute any ecclesiastic who might overstep the lines enjoined under all governments since the Concordat. The Bishop says the circular of the Minister of Justice wounds the dignity and patriotism of the clergy. "As French citizens," he says, "we claim our rights, of which you cannot deprive us."

A Newburgh Story Denied.

The society people of Newburgh are much exorcised by stories published in a newspaper there about Mrs. William Carson, the widow of Ex-Mayor Carson, being influenced by spiritualistic frauds, who were endeavoring to secure her wealth. The method alleged was the sending of messages from her dead husband saying he would be pleased to have her marry a Dr. George, of Auburn. The story is denied by Mrs. Carson, and Dr. George is highly spoken of by all who know him. He is a veteran army surgeon and a man of wealth and respectability.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN FOR CONGRESS.

John L. Sullivan of Boston announces that he will be a candidate for Congress at the next election, in a public letter. As this document is likely to figure among the most remarkable state papers of the country, we need offer no apology for publishing the most important portions. Mr. Sullivan writes:

In the first place, I have always supported the party and have always voted for it. I am sound as far as my political record is concerned, and I feel that I deserve the support of the party on that score. Then I have personal friends and general admirers enough in Boston to elect me anyhow. Any man who doubts my popularity with the American people has only got to travel about with me to get rid of that notion. Some may criticise my occupation in life. They don't know what they are talking about. My business is, and always has been, ever since I came before the public, to encourage physical culture.

Young fellows don't care for what they read about a lot of small fighters and second-rate champions, but the sight of one man with a national reputation and everybody looking up to him fires them with ambition and encourages them in the task of getting up their muscle. Many a young man to-day is bigger and stronger because my example has set him to work. Then, besides, with my matches and exhibitions I have entertained hundreds of thousands all over the country. Also I have furnished, through the newspapers, interesting reading to millions. People have got to feel grateful to those who entertainthem. * * * But what I feel to be more important than all else is the work which I have done to keep up the reputation of America among other nations. The best men from everywhere have tried to beat me, but failed, and since I first began I have kept the pugilistic championship of the world in this country.

There isn't a self-respecting American, no matter what tomfool ideas he may have about boxing in general, who does not feel patriotic pride at the thought that a native-born American, a countryman of his, can lick any man on the face of the earth. It is human nature, and this feeling of patriotism applies especially to Boston, where I was born, and where I shall appear as a candidate.

Mr. Sullivan's preference for the Democratic party will be regarded as quite invidious by his Republican admirers, and may be said to be the only weak point in his letter. As the Champion of the World Mr. Sullivan might properly be claimed by all parties alike, as Grant was for some time claimed by both parties as the Soldier of the World. But as Grant found it necessary to make a party selection, a like necessity may appear to Sullivan. The parallel might be extended farther. Grant chose the Republican party because its principles were in consonance with those for which he had fought. The Democratic party may likewise have principles in consonance with those for which Sullivan fights.

But whether this is true or not, the Democratic party is fortunate and it should be congratulated on this rise of a new, stalwart and plucky champion. It has long been in need of a leader who would lead it away from the stale and obsolete theories which it has been formulating in its platforms for twenty years. He has presented it with a new issue. A perusal of his letter shows him to be a man of ideas, of originality and force. We are convinced that he has more brains than any leader of the free trade crowd in the last Congress. Says he: "What I feel to be more important than all else is the work I have done to keep up the reputation of America among nations." And in another place he continues: "There isn't a self-respecting American * * who does not feel patriotic pride at the thought that a native-born American, a countryman of his, can lick any man on the face of the earth." This is Sullivan's platform, and the American heart responds to it. In an age when Canada dares to throttle our fishers for mackerel and invade our ocean domain for the piracy of sealskins, the revelation that we have one statesman in Congress who "can lick any man on the face of the earth" will go farther toward the settling of our foreign disputes than all the diplomacy of Bayard, Salisbury, Phelps and Sackville put together. It will indeed restore the national prestige that once enabled the poet to write with truth as well as fervor:

> One Frenchman lick two Portugee,
> One Englishman he lick all three,
> One Yankee lick all four you see,
> And that's the way we do.

Boston has two Democratic districts. One of them elected that sentimental Mugwump and dilletanti politician, John F. Andrew, last fall, by the stingy plurality of 1,558; the other gave that more rugged specimen of a Democrat, Joseph H. O'Neil, 8,031 plurality. It is probable that Mr. Sullivan can take his choice of these districts, as the party in both will run after him and cry for him to run for them. And on election day those from the slighted district will colonize into the lucky one, and concentrate the whole Democratic vote of the city upon the World's Champion. And what a Representative he will be! With his late experience in Mississippi and that of another full year before he takes his seat, he will go to Washington freighted with a knowledge of Democratic principles such as few Northern Democrats have the opportunity to acquire. And even Southern Democrats will stand in awe of him. Their experience in "getting up their muscle" has been chiefly with the slave-driver's whip or the bludgeon, which they are not allowed to bring into the House, but Boston sends a man whose fist is always with him, ready to do statesman's service straigh from the shoulder.

GOVERNOR'S POWERS IN CERTAIN CASES.

THE KINGSTON FREEMAN is so audacious about things that it is sometimes an amusement to answer it. The latest from THE FREEMAN is in reply to something which the Utica Observer said, and this is THE FREEMAN'S argument:

"If the Governor can not proceed to remove an official until formal charges have been presented by some other party, whose duty is it to take the initiative? The constitution says: 'The Governor may remove any officer in this section mentioned, within the term for which he shall have been elected; giving to such officer a copy of the charges against him, and an opportunity of being heard in his defense.' That is all. It does not state from what source the charges are to come. Now, suppose some sheriff should be guilty of crimes a thousand times more wicked than Flack's, but nobody should make it his business to present charges, how is the Governor to get him out?"

As a straight answer to this statement of THE FREEMAN, we can say there is no possible way for the Governor to get him out, or to get out any official against whom there are no charges presented before the Governor himself. Were the contrary the case, were it the prerogative of the Governor to present charges, there would be the most extraordinary revolution in all the requisites of honesty and fairness that has been known anywhere in constitutional government. Under such a rule the Governor could remove any official whom he desired to displace, and might be as arbitrary as the Czar of Russia. THE FREEMAN talks as if everything in the newspapers were legal evidence, and as if it were directed personally to the Governor. He has the power of removal under certain conditions even of officers elected by the people. But neither the constitution nor the laws give him the power to formulate charges against any official, and to hear and judge, and execute upon them as well. The chief magistrate of the state is to act in such matters judicially not arbitrarily; is to hear both the accused and his accusers impartially, and decide according to the evidence presented. The functions of prosecutor and judge can not rightly be exercised in any case by the same person.—Albany Times.

The questions quoted above from THE FREEMAN were directed to the Utica Observer, but as the Albany Times is closer to the Governor and is known as his Albany organ, it puts in its oar before the Observer has time to turn around. Its answer leaves us as profoundly in the dark as ever, as the legal authority by which the Governor would justify his inaction is not given. The Times's reply to THE FREEMAN'S assertion that "He can" is merely "Well, he can't." That is an easy way of closing a controversy, but it convinces nobody. People of ordinary intelligence will reason: "Well, if the Governor, invested with absolute power of removal, cannot get any offending officer out unless some other individual takes the initiative, where does his constitutional power in the premises begin, and has he really any at all?"

The Times pretends to discover a great power for injustice and iniquity in THE FREEMAN'S interpretation of the Governor's rights. Is there less of this power in the Times's own interpretation? If the Governor has power of removal on the presentation of charges from any irresponsible quarter, cannot he secretly intimate to some unscrupulous partisan his wish to get an undesirable official out, and hint to him that a series of charges is desired? This is on the Times's own assumption that the Governor may be a mean tyrant and a rascal. But the framers of our constitution seem to have assumed that that official, owing his election to the people, would be neither of these. On this assumption they gave him absolute power to veto bills, to pardon or respite criminals, to order special sessions of the Legislature and of courts, to "take care that the laws are faithfully executed," and to do a great many other things of infinitely larger importance to the state than this power of removal.

"THE FREEMAN talks as if everything in the newspapers were legal evidence," says the Times. Well, are not the affidavits of Mrs. Flack already published in the newspapers legal evidence? Has not the Governor the right, taking the wronged woman's statements into consideration, to send for Sheriff Flack and ask for an explanation? Has he not the right to say of him, as he said of Gen. Shaler (Republican) after two failures in court to convict him, that his usefulness as a public official had been "greatly impaired." This was the only ground on which the Governor based his removal of Shaler, a man of infinitely higher character in every relation than the disgraced Sheriff of New York. We think the Governor will find a way to get Flack out of office after the 15th of October, whether charges are presented or not.

MR. HAMILTON'S SORROW.

A Charitable View—It May Not be an Isolated Case.

[From the New York Sun.]

Mr. Robert Ray Hamilton is the great-grandson of Alexander Hamilton, one of the men of commanding genius in the history of America. He has been reared in affluence, having enjoyed from his childhood up the many advantages which wealth and cultivated associations give. To his high credit, he has not been content with ancestral renown and to rest and rust in the case which an ample fortune permits. He has sought to win a name for himself by honorable and industrious public service, and has displayed the strong partisanship which attests an earnest nature and indicates firmness of conviction.

Ray Hamilton, in fine, has been one of those young men of whom the republic has good reason to be proud. He has neglected none of the duties of citizenship. He has not ranged himself with the youth of wealth and their parasites, who affect to despise our republican politics and methods, and who take a silly pride in their pessimism touching all things American. He is neither a dude nor a snob, but a plain, simple and unpretending American citizen, desirous of performing his duty as a citizen; with an honorable and laudable ambition for political distinction, earnest, faithful, conscientious, high-minded and of a true and admirable democratic spirit. He is, besides, a man of a fine and sensitive nature, cultivated, refined, abhorring meanness and evasion, steadfast in his friendships, modest, unassuming and seeking only for what is his real desert. Ray Hamilton, too, is, a brave man, as recent events have shown. He does not try to dodge the responsibility of his acts, but faces them squarely like a man.

It may seem strange, therefore, that he should have involved himself in the troubles, so mortifying and so injurious to his reputation, which now oppress him. The story told by him in the police court on Friday revealed a delusion, long continued for which it is as impossible to account as it is to account for many of the vagaries of the sexual passion. Yet, after all, his experience is not novel. The history of the world is full of cases like his, cases where men and women of the highest refinement and of the gentlest breeding, of honor and of delicacy, have been attracted and dominated by a passionate sentiment, by an infatuation for the coarse, the low and the vile. The one extreme is attracted by the other extreme, and perhaps the very excess of refinement makes more irresistible the magnetic force. There is no fixed law scientifically defined which explains all the demonstrations of the sexual passion. One woman attracts and another repels without regard to mental, moral, or, it may be, to physical advantages. The worst may have the most power, and the best the least. The very stepping down from high to low, the width of the gulf between purity and impurity, may lend further and compelling force to the descent and the fascination.

Nor is it extraordinary that Mr. Hamilton was made so easy a dupe of the vulgar and grasping crew among whom his infatuation got him. So soon as he had fairly yielded to it, he was gone. He was blind, without reason, and incapable of criticism. Everybody else might know of his danger and recognize the woman who held him in her power as a coarse and bold harpy, but he could not discover it or her. He saw her as his imagination pictured her, not as she was; and, taking advantage of his delusion, she of course proceeded to trick and to fleece him. His very virtues put him more in the power of the siren. The greater and higher his honor the easier it was for her to bend him to her will; and the more delicate his refinement the more she could enchain him. He was impetuous and unselfish, and she was cool and deliberate, playing a game of profit only. But the strain was too much for her. She seems to be an hysterical creature, and her calculated repression could not last. She gave way under it and ruined her game, at the same time exposing the delusion of Hamilton to the public gaze.

There is, of course, a moral to all this, but it is easily drawn. Everybody will see it for himself. There is no need of preaching a sermon on the case, and in its psychological aspect it presents features easily recognized. Probably there are hundreds which bear a close resemblance to it in New York, and the agitation of Mr. Hamilton produces a responsive thrill of doubt and fear in many directions; for whenever there are unions in which the man only can suffer from exposure, danger is always present. The mere publication of the facts is sermon and warning enough. It produces quaking among the sinners. It teaches that when men and women form unions they should do it on something like equal terms, so that the responsibilities growing out of the contract may rest on both alike.

But we must give our respect to Mr. Hamilton. He did not run away and hide, as he might have done. He did not seek to cover up his identity or to deny his relationship to the woman. He stood up manfully and bore the brunt of the attack, evading nothing and concealing nothing. He has been duped and betrayed, he has acted the part of folly, but he has not been a coward. May these clouds pass away, and having learned from bitter experience a lesson of wisdom, may he again take the place to which his abilities and his character entitle him!

JOHN L. SULLIVAN FOR CONGRESS.

John L. Sullivan of Boston announces that he will be a candidate for Congress at the next election, in a public letter. As this document is likely to figure among the most remarkable state papers of the country, we need offer no apology for publishing the most important portions. Mr. Sullivan writes:

In the first place, I have always supported the party and have always voted for it. I am sound as far as my political record is concerned, and I feel that I deserve the support of the party on that score. Then I have personal friends and general admirers enough in Boston to elect me anyhow. Any man who doubts my popularity with the American people has only got to travel about with me to get rid of that notion. Some may criticise my occupation in life. They don't know what they are talking about. My business is, and always has been, ever since I came before the public, to encourage physical culture.

Young fellows don't care for what they read about a lot of small fighters and second-rate champions, but the sight of one man with a national reputation and everybody looking up to him fires them with ambition and encourages them in the task of getting up their muscle. Many a young man to-day is bigger and stronger because my example has set him to work. Then, besides, with my matches and exhibitions I have entertained hundreds of thousands all over the country. Also I have furnished, through the newspapers, interesting reading to millions. People have got to feel grateful to those who entertain them. * * * But what I feel to be more important than all else is the work which I have done to keep up the reputation of America among other nations. The best men from everywhere have tried to beat me, but failed, and since I first began I have kept the pugilistic championship of the world in this country.

There isn't a self-respecting American, no matter what foolish ideas he may have about boxing in general, who does not feel patriotic pride at the thought that a native-born American, a countryman of his, can lick any man on the face of the earth. This is Sullivan's platform, and the American heart responds to it. In an age when Canada dares to throttle our fishers for mackerel and invade our ocean domain for the piracy of sealskins, the revelation that we have one statesman in Congress who "can lick any man on the face of the earth" will go farther toward the settling of our foreign disputes than all the diplomacy of Bayard, Salisbury, Phelps and Sackville put together. It will indeed restore the national prestige that once enabled the poet to write with truth as well as fervor:

> One Frenchman lick two Portugee,
> One Englishman he lick all three,
> One Yankee lick all four you see,
> And that's the way we do.

Boston has two Democratic districts. One of them elected that sentimental Mugwump and dilletanti politician, John F. Andrew, last fall, by the stingy plurality of 1,558; the other gave that more rugged specimen of a Democrat, Joseph H. O'Neil, 8,031 plurality. It is probable that Mr. Sullivan can take his choice of these districts, as the party in both will run after him and cry for him to run for them. And on election day those from the slighted district will colonize into the lucky one, and concentrate the whole Democratic vote of the city upon the World's Champion. And what a Representative he will be! With his late experience in Mississippi and that of another full year before he takes his seat, he will go to Washington freighted with a knowledge of Democratic principles such as few Northern Democrats have the opportunity to acquire. And even Southern Democrats will stand in awe of him. Their experience in "getting up their muscle" has been chiefly with the slave-driver's whip or the bludgeon, which they are not allowed to bring into the House, but Boston sends a man whose fist is always with him, ready to do statesman's service straight from the shoulder.

GOVERNOR'S POWERS IN CERTAIN CASES.

THE KINGSTON FREEMAN is so audacious about things that it is sometimes an amusement to answer it. The latest from THE FREEMAN is in reply to something which the Utica Observer said, and this is THE FREEMAN'S argument:

"If the Governor can not proceed to remove an official until formal charges have been presented by some other party, whose duty is it to take the initiative? The constitution says: 'The Governor may remove any officer in this section mentioned, within the term for which he shall have been elected; giving to such officer a copy of the charges against him, and an opportunity of being heard in his defense.' That is all. It does not state from what source the charges are to come. Now, suppose some sheriff should be guilty of crimes a thousand times more wicked than Flack's, but nobody should make it his business to present charges, how is the Governor to get him out?"

As a straight answer to this statement of THE FREEMAN, we can say there is no possible way for the Governor to get him out, or to get out any official against whom there are no charges presented before the Governor himself. Were the contrary the case, were it the prerogative of the Governor to present charges, there would be the most extraordinary revolution in all the requisites of honesty and fairness that has been known anywhere in constitutional government. Under such a rule the Governor could remove any official whom he desired to displace, and might be as arbitrary as the Czar of Russia. THE FREEMAN talks as if everything in the newspapers were legal evidence, and as if it were directed personally to the Governor. He has the power of removal under certain conditions even of officers elected by the people. But neither the constitution nor the laws give him the power to formulate charges against any official, and to hear and judge, and execute upon them as well. The chief magistrate of the state is to act in such matters judicially not arbitrarily; is to hear both the accused and his accusers impartially, and decide according to the evidence presented. The functions of prosecutor and judge can not rightly be exercised in any case by the same person.—Albany Times.

The questions quoted above from THE FREEMAN were directed to the Utica Observer, but as the Albany Times is closer to the Governor and is known as his Albany organ, it puts in its oar before the Observer has time to turn around. Its answer leaves us as profoundly in the dark as ever, as the legal authority by which the Governor would justify his inaction is not given. The Times's reply to THE FREEMAN'S assertion that "He can" is merely "Well, he can't." That is an easy way of closing a controversy, but it convinces nobody. People of ordinary intelligence will reason: "Well, if the Governor, invested with absolute power of removal, cannot get any offending officer out unless some other individual takes the initiative, where does his constitutional power in the premises begin, and has he really any at all?"

The Times pretends to discover a great power for injustice and iniquity in THE FREEMAN'S interpretation of the Governor's rights. Is there less of this power in the Times's own interpretation? If the Governor has power of removal on the presentation of charges from any irresponsible quarter, cannot he secretly intimate to some unscrupulous partisan his wish to get an undesirable official out, and hint to him that a series of charges is desired? This is on the Times's own assumption that the Governor may be a mean tyrant and a rascal. But the framers of our constitution seem to have assumed that that official, owing his election to the people, would be neither of these. On this assumption they gave him absolute power to veto bills, to pardon or respite criminals, to order special sessions of the Legislature and of courts, to "take care that the laws are faithfully executed," and to do a great many other things of infinitely larger importance to the state than this power of removal.

"THE FREEMAN talks as if everything in the newspapers were legal evidence," says the Times. Well, are not the affidavits of Mrs. Flack already published in the newspapers legal evidence? Has not the Governor the right, taking the wronged woman's statements into consideration, to send for Sheriff Flack and ask for an explanation? Has he not the right to say of him, as he said of Gen. Shaler (Republican) after two failures in court to convict him, that his usefulness as a public official had been "greatly impaired." This was the only ground on which the Governor based his removal of Shaler, a man of infinitely higher character in every relation than the disgraced Sheriff of New York. We think the Governor will find a way to get Flack out of office after the 15th of October, whether charges are presented or not.

MR. HAMILTON'S SORROW.

A Charitable View—It May Not be an Isolated Case.

[From the New York Sun.]

Mr. Robert Ray Hamilton is the great-grandson of Alexander Hamilton, one of the men of commanding genius in the history of America. He has been reared in affluence, having enjoyed from his childhood up the many advantages which wealth and cultivated associations give. To his high credit, he has not been content with ancestral renown and to rest and rust in the case which an ample fortune permits. He has sought to win a name for himself by honorable and industrious public service, and has displayed the strong partisanship which attests an earnest nature and indicates firmness of conviction.

Ray Hamilton, in fine, has been one of those young men of whom the republic has good reason to be proud. He has neglected none of the duties of citizenship. He has not ranged himself with the youth of wealth and their parasites, who affect to despise our republican politics and methods, and who take a silly pride in their pessimism touching all things American. He is neither a dude nor a snob, but a plain, simple and unpretending American citizen, desirous of performing his duty as a citizen; with an honorable and laudable ambition for political distinction, earnest, faithful, conscientious, high-minded and of a true and admirable democratic spirit. He is, besides, a man of a fine and sensitive nature, cultivated, refined, abhorring meanness and evasion, steadfast in his friendships, modest, unassuming and seeking only for what is his real desert. Ray Hamilton, too, is a brave man, as recent events have shown. He does not try to dodge the responsibility of his acts, but faces them squarely like a man.

It may seem strange, therefore, that he should have involved himself in the troubles, so mortifying and so injurious to his reputation, which now oppress him. The story told by him in the police court on Friday revealed a delusion, long continued for which it is as impossible to account as it is to account for many of the vagaries of the sexual passion. Yet, after all, his experience is not novel. The history of the world is full of cases like his, cases where men and women of the highest refinement and of the gentlest breeding, of honor and of delicacy, have been attracted and dominated by a passionate sentiment, by an infatuation for the coarse, the low and the vile. The one extreme is attracted by the other extreme, and perhaps the very excess of refinement makes more irresistible the magnetic force. There is no fixed law scientifically defined which explains all the demonstrations of the sexual passion. One woman attracts and another repels without regard to mental, moral, or, it may be, to physical advantages. The worst may have the most power, and the best the least. The very stepping down from high to low, the width of the gulf between purity and impurity, may lend further and compelling force to the descent and the fascination.

Nor is it extraordinary that Mr. Hamilton was made so easy a dupe of the vulgar and grasping crew among whom his infatuation got him. So soon as he had fairly yielded to it, he was gone. He was blind, without reason, and incapable of criticism. Everybody else might know of his danger and recognize the woman who held him in her power as a coarse and bold harpy, but he could not discover it or her. He saw her as his imagination pictured her, not as she was; and, taking advantage of his delusion, she of course proceeded to trick and to fleece him. His very virtues put him more in the power of the siren. The greater and higher his honor the easier it was for her to bend him to her will; and the more delicate his refinement the more she could enchain him. He was impetuous and unselfish, and she was cool and deliberate, playing a game of profit only. But the strain was too much for her. She seems to be an hysterical creature, and her calculated repression could not last. She gave way under it and ruined her game, at the same time exposing the delusion of Hamilton to the public gaze.

There is, of course, a moral to all this, but it is easily drawn. Everybody will see it for himself. There is no need of preaching a sermon on the case, and in its psychological aspect it presents features easily recognized. Probably there are hundreds which bear a close resemblance to it in New York, and the agitation of Mr. Hamilton produces a responsive thrill of doubt and fear in many directions; for whenever there are unions in which the man only can suffer from exposure, danger is always present. The mere publication of the facts is sermon and warning enough. It produces quaking among the sinners. It teaches that when men and women form unions they should do it on something like equal terms, so that the responsibilities growing out of the contract may rest on both alike.

But we must give our respect to Mr. Hamilton. He did not run away and hide, as he might have done. He did not seek to cover up his identity or to deny his relationship to the woman. He stood up manfully and bore the brunt of the attack, evading nothing and concealing nothing. He has been duped and betrayed, he has acted the part of folly, but he has not been a coward. May these clouds pass away, and having learned from bitter experience a lesson of wisdom, may he again take the place to which his abilities and his character entitle him!

CORD MEYER, Secretary.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN FOR CONGRESS.

John L. Sullivan of Boston announces that he will be a candidate for Congress at the next election, in a public letter. As this document is likely to figure among the most remarkable state papers of the country, we need offer no apology for publishing the most important portions. Mr. Sullivan writes:

In the first place, I have always supported the party and have always voted for it. I am sound as far as my political record is concerned, and I feel that I deserve the support of the party on that score. Then I have personal friends and general admirers enough in Boston to elect me anyhow. Any man who doubts my popularity with the American people has only got to travel about with me to get rid of that notion. Some may criticise my occupation in life. They don't know what they are talking about. My business is, and always has been, ever since I came before the public, to encourage physical culture.

Young fellows don't care for what they read about a lot of small fighters and second-rate champions, but the sight of one man with a national reputation and everybody looking up to him fires them with ambition and encourages them in the task of getting up their muscle. Many a young man to-day is bigger and stronger because my example has set him to work. Then, besides, with my matches and exhibitions I have entertained hundreds of thousands all over the country. Also I have furnished, through the newspapers, interesting reading to millions. People have got to feel grateful to those who entertain them. * * * But what I feel to be more important than all else is the work which I have done to keep up the reputation of America among other nations. The best men from everywhere have tried to beat me, but failed, and since I first began I have kept the pugilistic championship of the world in this country.

There isn't a self-respecting American, no matter what confloed ideas he may have about boxing in general, who does not feel patriotic pride at the thought that a native-born American, a countryman of his, can lick any man on the face of the earth. It is human nature, and this feeling of patriotism applies especially to Boston, where I was born, and where I shall appear as a candidate.

Mr. Sullivan's preference for the Democratic party will be regarded as quite invidious by his Republican admirers, and may be said to be the only weak point in his letter. As the Champion of the World Mr. Sullivan might properly be claimed by all parties alike, as Grant was for some time claimed by both parties as the Soldier of the World. But as Grant found it necessary to make a party selection, a like necessity may appear to Sullivan. The parallel might be extended farther. Grant chose the Republican party because its principles were in consonance with those for which he had fought. The Democratic party may likewise have principles in consonance with those for which Sullivan fights.

But whether this is true or not, the Democratic party is fortunate and it should be congratulated on this rise of a new, stalwart and plucky champion. It has long been in need of a leader who would lead it away from the stale and obsolete theories which it has been formulating in its platforms for twenty years. He has presented it with a new issue. A perusal of his letter shows him to be a man of ideas, of originality and force. We are convinced that he has more brains than any leader of the free trade crowd in the last Congress. Says he: "What I feel to be more important than all else is the work I have done to keep up the reputation of America among nations." And in another place he continues: "There isn't a self-respecting American * * who does not feel patriotic pride at the thought that a native-born American, a countryman of his, can lick any man on the face of the earth." This is Sullivan's platform, and the American heart responds to it. In an age when Canada dares to throttle our fishers for mackerel and invade our ocean domain for the piracy of sealskins, the revelation that we have one statesman in Congress who "can lick any man on the face of the earth" will go farther toward the settling of our foreign disputes than all the diplomacy of Bayard, Salisbury, Phelps and Sackville put together. It will indeed restore the national prestige that once enabled the poet to write with truth as well as fervor:

> One Frenchman lick two Portugee,
> One Englishman he lick all three,
> One Yankee lick all four you see,
> And that's the way we do.

Boston has two Democratic districts. One of them elected that sentimental Mugwump and dilletanti politician, John F. Andrew, last fall, by the stingy plurality of 1,558; the other gave that more rugged specimen of a Democrat, Joseph H. O'Neil, 8,031 plurality. It is probable that Mr. Sullivan can take his choice of these districts, as the party in both will run after him and cry for him to run for them. And on election day those from the slighted district will colonize into the lucky one, and concentrate the whole Democratic vote of the city upon the World's Champion. And what a Representative he will be! With his late experience in Mississippi and that of another full year before he takes his seat, he will go to Washington freighted with a knowledge of Democratic principles such as few Northern Democrats have the opportunity to acquire. And even Southern Democrats will stand in awe of him. Their experience in "getting up their muscle" has been chiefly with the slave-driver's whip or the bludgeon, which they are not allowed to bring into the House, but Boston sends a man whose fist is always with him, ready to do statesman's service straigh from the shoulder.

GOVERNOR'S POWERS IN CERTAIN CASES.

THE KINGSTON FREEMAN is so audacious about things that it is sometimes an amusement to answer it. The latest from THE FREEMAN is in reply to something which the Utica Observer said, and this is THE FREEMAN'S argument:

"If the Governor can not proceed to remove an official until formal charges have been presented by some other party, whose duty is it to take the initiative? The constitution says: 'The Governor may remove any officer in this section mentioned, within the term for which he shall have been elected; giving to such officer a copy of the charges against him, and an opportunity of being heard in his defense.' That is all. It does not state from what source the charges are to come. Now, suppose some sheriff should be guilty of crimes a thousand times more wicked than Flack's, but nobody should make it his business to present charges, how is the Governor to get him out?"

As a straight answer to this statement of THE FREEMAN, we can say there is no possible way for the Governor to get him out, or to get out any official against whom there are no charges presented before the Governor himself. Were the contrary the case, were it the prerogative of the Governor to present charges, there would be the most extraordinary revolution in all the requisites of honesty and fairness that has been known anywhere in constitutional government. Under such a rule the Governor could remove any official whom he desired to displace, and might be as arbitrary as the Czar of Russia. THE FREEMAN talks as if everything in the newspapers were legal evidence, and as if it were directed personally to the Governor. He has the power of removal under certain conditions even of officers elected by the people. But neither the constitution nor the laws give him the power to formulate charges against any official, and to hear and judge, and execute upon them as well. The chief magistrate of the state is to act in such matters judicially not arbitrarily; is to hear both the accused and his accusers impartially, and decide according to the evidence presented. The functions of prosecutor and judge can not rightly be exercised in any case by the same person.—Albany Times.

The questions quoted above from THE FREEMAN were directed to the Utica Observer, but as the Albany Times is closer to the Governor and is known as his Albany organ, it puts in its oar before the Observer has time to turn around. Its answer leaves us as profoundly in the dark as ever, as the legal authority by which the Governor would justify his inaction is not given. The Times's reply to THE FREEMAN'S assertion that "He can" is merely "Well, he can't." That is an easy way of closing a controversy, but it convinces nobody. People of ordinary intelligence will reason: "Well, if the Governor, invested with absolute power of removal, cannot get any offending officer out unless some other individual takes the initiative, where does his constitutional power in the premises begin, and has he really any at all?"

The Times pretends to discover a great power for injustice and iniquity in THE FREEMAN'S interpretation of the Governor's rights. Is there less of this power in the Times's own interpretation? If the Governor has power of removal on the presentation of charges from any irresponsible quarter, cannot he secretly intimate to some unscrupulous partisan his wish to get an undesirable official out, and hint to him that a series of charges is desired? This is on the Times's own assumption that the Governor may be a mean tyrant and a rascal. But the framers of our constitution seem to have assumed that that official, owing his election to the people, would be neither of these. On this assumption they gave him absolute power to veto bills, to pardon or respite criminals, to order special sessions of the Legislature and of courts, to "take care that the laws are faithfully executed," and to do a great many other things of infinitely larger importance to the state than this power of removal.

"THE FREEMAN talks as if everything in the newspapers were legal evidence," says the Times. Well, are not the affidavits of Mrs. Flack already published in the newspapers legal evidence? Has not the Governor the right, taking the wronged woman's statements into consideration, to send for Sheriff Flack and ask for an explanation? Has he not the right to say of him, as he said of Gen. Shaler (Republican) after two failures in court to convict him, that his usefulness as a public official had been "greatly impaired." This was the only ground on which the Governor based his removal of Shaler, a man of infinitely higher character in every relation than the disgraced Sheriff of New York. We think the Governor will find a way to get Flack out of office after the 15th of October, whether charges are presented or not.

MR. HAMILTON'S SORROW.

A Charitable View—It May Not be an Isolated Case.

[From the New York Sun.]

Mr. Robert Ray Hamilton is the great-grandson of Alexander Hamilton, one of the men of commanding genius in the history of America. He has been reared in affluence, having enjoyed from his childhood up the many advantages which wealth and cultivated associations give. To his high credit, he has not been content with ancestral renown and to rest and rust in the case which an ample fortune permits. He has sought to win a name for himself by honorable and industrious public service, and has displayed the strong partisanship which attests an earnest nature and indicates firmness of conviction.

Ray Hamilton, in fine, has been one of those young men of whom the republic has good reason to be proud. He has neglected none of the duties of citizenship. He has not ranged himself with the youth of wealth and their parasites, who affect to despise our republican politics and methods, and who take a silly pride in their pessimism touching all things American. He is neither a dude nor a snob, but a plain, simple and unpretending American citizen, desirous of performing his duty as a citizen; with an honorable and laudable ambition for political distinction, earnest, faithful, conscientious, high-minded and of a true and admirable democratic spirit. He is, besides, a man of a fine and sensitive nature, cultivated, refined, abhorring meanness and evasion, steadfast in his friendships, modest, unassuming and seeking only for what is his real desert. Ray Hamilton, too, is a brave man, as recent events have shown. He does not try to dodge the responsibility of his acts, but faces them squarely like a man.

It may seem strange, therefore, that he should have involved himself in the troubles, so mortifying and so injurious to his reputation, which now oppress him. The story told by him in the police court on Friday revealed a delusion, long continued for which it is as impossible to account as it is to account for many of the vagaries of the sexual passion. Yet, after all, his experience is not novel. The history of the world is full of cases like his, cases where men and women of the highest refinement and of the gentlest breeding, of honor and of delicacy, have been attracted and dominated by a passionate sentiment, by an infatuation for the coarse, the low and the vile. The one extreme is attracted by the other extreme, and perhaps the very excess of refinement makes more irresistible the magnetic force. There is no fixed law scientifically defined which explains all the demonstrations of the sexual passion. One woman attracts and another repels without regard to mental, moral, or, it may be, to physical advantages. The worst may have the most power, and the best the least. The very stepping down from high to low, the width of the gulf between purity and impurity, may lend further and compelling force to the descent and the fascination.

Nor is it extraordinary that Mr. Hamilton was made so easy a dupe of the vulgar and grasping crew among whom his infatuation got him. So soon as he had fairly yielded to it, he was gone. He was blind, without reason, and incapable of criticism. Everybody else might know of his danger and recognize the woman who held him in her power as a coarse and bold harpy, but he could not discover it or her. He saw her as his imagination pictured her, not as she was; and, taking advantage of his delusion, she of course proceeded to trick and to fleece him. His very virtues put him more in the power of the siren. The greater and higher his honor the easier it was for her to bend him to her will; and the more delicate his refinement the more she could enchain him. He was impetuous and unselfish, and she was cool and deliberate, playing a game of profit only. But the strain was too much for her. She seems to be an hysterical creature, and her calculated repression could not last. She gave way under it and ruined her game, at the same time exposing the delusion of Hamilton to the public gaze.

There is, of course, a moral to all this, but it is easily drawn. Everybody will see it for himself. There is no need of preaching a sermon on the case, and in its psychological aspect it presents features easily recognized. Probably there are hundreds which bear a close resemblance to it in New York, and the agitation of Mr. Hamilton produces a responsive thrill of doubt and fear in many directions; for whenever there are unions in which the man only can suffer from exposure, danger is always present. The mere publication of the facts is sermon and warning enough. It produces quaking among the sinners. It teaches that when men and women form unions they should do it on something like equal terms, so that the responsibilities growing out of the contract may rest on both alike.

But we must give our respect to Mr. Hamilton. He did not run away and hide, as he might have done. He did not seek to cover up his identity or to deny his relationship to the woman. He stood up manfully and bore the brunt of the attack, evading nothing and concealing nothing. He has been duped and betrayed, he has acted the part of folly, but he has not been a coward. May these clouds pass away, and having learned from bitter experience a lesson of wisdom, may he again take the place to which his abilities and his character entitle him!

County and District Officers also to be elected for said County:

Three Members of Assembly; a District Attorney, in the place of John N. Vanderlyn; a County Judge, in the place of William S. Kenyon; two Justices for Sessions, in the place of Cyrenius P. Brill and John Horton; two Coroners in the place of Warren Kemble and Benjamin Bevier, all whose terms of office will expire on the last day of December next.

Respectfully yours,
D. WILLERS,
Deputy Secretary of State.

A Tidal Wave at Rockaway Beach—The Dr. Cronin Murder "Suspects"—Antwerp's Great Fire Subdued—New-York City's Real Estate Market—A Church Festival.

Yesterday was not a particularly inviting day for a trip to the seashore, but the weather has got to behave far worse than it did to prevent a crowd from gathering on the strand at Rockaway Beach of a Sunday afternoon in early September. The crowd from the cities clustered about New-York Bay was not comparatively large yesterday, but those who composed it—some 3,000 in number—were treated to an experience with the Atlantic Ocean they will not soon forget. Thick weather has been prevailing out at sea for three or four days, the ragged edges of the storm making occasional appearances in rain-threatening clouds over New-York and neighboring cities. Yesterday the sea, which had been rolling high, began to increase, rolling in huge billows shoreward and breaking in thundering roars on the beach. The wonderful power and majesty of the ocean in such commotion was the most attractive feature of the resorts strung along the beach, and there were large crowds watching the sea at what they supposed was a safe distance, when, at about 4:30 o'clock, a tidal wave rolled upon the beach 70 feet beyond the previous high-water mark. It broke over at least 2,000 men, women and children who were sitting, walking or standing on the strand. It came unperceived by the great majority, and although there was a general scramble to get beyond its reach but few were successful in wholly escaping its grasp. The great majority of the crowd suffered a thorough drenching. Many were tumbled over in the rush of waters, and several women and children were caught by the undertow and carried back toward the surf line. Their screams of terror were heard shrill above the roar of the waters, and for an instant it seemed as if some must be swept away and drowned, but strong arms reached for them and all were rescued with no more serious injuries than the shock, the fright and the drenching.

New-York City Briefs.

An attachment has been issued by Presiding Justice VanBrunt of the Supreme Court against the property in this State of Perrez Dickinson, of Knoxville, Tenn., in favor of M. L. Woods and J. C. Fay. Messrs. Woods and Fay have a claim of $24,048 against Dickinson for legal services rendered between July, 1885, and September, 1888, in litigation in the United States Court of Claims. They also allege that they appeared before a Congressional committee and secured an appropriation to cover the amount awarded Mr. Dickinson, and that he refused to carry out the agreement he had made with them.

D. Lowber Smith, Ex-Commissioner of Public Works, is not yet satisfied that he is not still rightfully the head of the department, in right, if not by decision of the court. His lawyers, Waterbury & Cox, yesterday secured from Presiding Justice VanBrunt a writ of certiorari for the review of all the proceedings by which Thomas P. Gilroy was declared to be the legally-appointed Commissioner. The writ is directed against Judge Barrett.

The cotton marker is interesting just now. There is an unusual demand for September cotton from Liverpool, and the freight engagements up to the eighteenth of this month are very large. Although the September option went down five points yesterday, 20 points premium on the market price has been paid for short notices—that is, cotton that may be had to ship before September 18.

Two Steam Barges Collide.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 9.—A collision occurred Saturday night at South Bend, St. Clair Flats, between the steam barges Philip D'Armour, bound down with a full cargo of corn and the Marion, coal-laden, bound up. The Marion struck the Armour on the starboard bow with great force, sending the latter to the bottom. It lies in 50 feet of water. Its texas and pilot house floated off. The crew all escaped, but some of them had a close call. The Marion is lying at the scene of the collision, with its bow on the Canadian bank and its stern resting athwartships of the Armour, about over the latter's engine-room. The Marion's bows are badly crushed.

CARNIVAL OF MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Divorced Wife Shot—A Shipping Clerk's Rash Act—Fatal Quarrel Among Miners.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 8.—John McGuffie shot and killed his divorced wife at San Pedro yesterday. He then placed the pistol to his breast and shot himself, probably fatally. McGuffie asked his wife to return to him and she refused.

TACOMA, W. T., Sept. 9.—Yesterday morning Henry Stewart, of the Stuart & Holmes Drug Company, found his shipping clerk, F. Eugene Clark, looking strange and accused him of being intoxicated. He denied the charge, but handed over the keys on Mr. Stewart's demand. He had hardly done this when he fell backward insensible. Clark was taken to a doctor's office, where it was found that he was suffering from poison. A search of the house revealed the fact that a bottle of atropia had been emptied a minute previously. As soon as Clark had been taken to the doctor's office Mr. Stewart crossed the hall to a room, which had been occupied by Clark, where a woman about 30 years of age was lying dead on the bed with the back part of her head shot off. The Coroner opened an investigation, at which evidence was given showing that the woman, Florence Cross, had been drinking with a Northern Pacific yardsman and that she took him to Clark's room. Clark quarreled with the woman's companion and finally shot her dead. Seeing what he had done he swallowed the poison. Clark came here from St. Paul.

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept 9.—A shooting affray occurred at North Springs, Wyoming County, Saturday, in which three miners named Lester, Collins and West were engaged. The quarrel arose over an old grudge between Collins and West. Lester and West assaulted Collins and shot him twice. Collins returned the fire, wounding both men. A third shot from West's revolver blew Collins' brains out. Lester died from his wounds.

Chief Grass will Recover.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BISMARCK, Dak., Sept. 9.—Agent McLaughlin has just come from the bedside of Chief John Grass, who has been at the point of death for some time, and reports the great chief convalescent. He states that Grass was overcome by the heat, and a swelling formed in his throat. To reduce the swelling he used a gargle of kerosene oil and the strain was so great that it caused hemorrhage, which came near sending the Chief to the happy hunting grounds. The report that Sitting Bull had been arrested for poisoning John Grass was unfounded.

There will be two 1,500 feet bridges on the Lehigh Valley Railroad's branch into Schuylkill County, Pa.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is about to make experiments with 60-foot rails. The common rail is 30 feet long.

The Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at its meeting this week, will probably choose a successor to the late William Thaw.

Collision on the Lake Shore.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

GOSHEN, Ind., Sept. 9.—The second section of freight train No. 43 and the first section of train No. 50 collided near here yesterday. Both trains were badly damaged and both engines ruined, but no lives were lost. The loss is estimated at $175,000.

Journalistic.

Earnest Jarrold mentioned in a dispatch printed on Saturday in THE FREEMAN concerning Brodie going over Niagara Falls in a rubber suit is the author of the "Mickey Finn" stories, the scenes of which are laid in Rondout. Mr. Jarrold graduated on THE FREEMAN. So did Harry Alloway, of the New-York Times, who does that paper's Wall-street talk. So did David S. Hasbrouck, Managing Editor of the Troy Times, and numerous other successful journalists. Mr. Jarrold is one of the New-York Sun's bright young men.

There is something radically wrong with the New-York World's mailing department. Half the time the World reaches here on time, the other half it is late. No, the mail service is not to blame. The Times, Herald, Sun, Star, Tribune, etc., "never miss."

The Wurtsboro Dispatch was printed one day earlier than usual last week, so as to allow one of the editors to "blow a horn" in a band at the Sullivan County fair.

The editor of the Windham Journal returns thanks "for a German carp weighing two and a half pounds."

Affairs of Local Railroads.

The usual fall schedule for the running of trains has been adopted on the Ulster & Delaware, Stony Clove & Catskill Mountain and Kaaterskill Railroads. On the West Shore Railroad trains Nos. 35, 36, 37 and 38 and 40 have been taken off. The Saturday half-holiday train will be continued. New-Jersey Junction trains Nos. 1, 2, 3, 6, 35, and 36 have been discontinued. The train on the Jersey Junction Road which hitherto left at 3:30 now leave at 3:40 P. M., and the train formerly leaving Wechawken for Jersey City at 6:10 P. M., now leaves at 7. These trains make connection with trains Nos. 12 and 13. For a few days drawing room cars will continue to run between Jersey City and Saratoga and between Wechawken and the Grand Hotel station on the Ulster & Delaware Railroad on trains Nos. 7 and 8. There are no changes in the local or through service.

Engineer Minks, of the Central-Hudson Railroad, made a run of 97 miles in 90 minutes one day recently with Superintendent Bissell's new parlor locomotive.

The old steamboat Magenta, which ran on the Newburgh and Albany line in 1862, brought a party of Newark excursionists to Newburgh one day recently.

The whistle of the steamer "City of Kingston" was blown at the mouth of the Rondout Creek at 7:14 o'clock Saturday night.

There arrived at tidewater at Eddyville Saturday 32 Delaware & Hudson Canal boats, laden with 4,300 tons of coal.

George Ruppert's steam pleasure yacht, run by naptha, was in the Rondout Creek today.

Commodore Booth's new yacht was launched at Poughkeepsie on Saturday.

Some Fruit and Farm Notes.

Concord grapes have dropped in price to three cents per pound along the Hudson River. Although the fruit is plentiful, its quality is somewhat inferior, owing to rot and uneven ripening. Over 89 per cent. of a full crop will be gathered despite the predictions made by speculators and interested middlemen that the Concords were ruined. Heavy shipments may be looked for this week.

Farmers or others who discover strange insects preying on crops are requested to forward specimens to the Central Office of the New-York Weather Service, Cornell University.

Jacob Armstrong, of Coxsackie, recently exhibited an apple weighing 20 ounces.

Hours of Recreation.

The people of St. John's Parish, Barrytown, will have a Harvest Home Festival on Thursday, September 12. Religious exercises will be held also on that day and the new church organ will be heard for the first time.

The members of Kingston Union No. 251, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, will make an excursion on the Ulster & Delaware Railroad to Shokan on September 16.

Certain young ladies of the Wurts-Street M. E. Church are rehearsing for a Japanese wedding, to be celebrated in the Chapel on Wednesday evening.

The members of the Rondout Social Maennerchor held a picnic in O'Reilly's Grove this afternoon. It will be continued this evening.

GENERAL SPORTING NEWS.

ON THE DIAMOND, THE RACE TRACK AND CINDER PATH.

The Record of the League and Association Base Ball Clubs—Von der Ahe's Team May Be Expelled—About Horses Fleet of Foot—At Sheepshead Bay Course, Etc.

Sporting matters of general interest in various parts of the United States follow:

HORSE NOTES.

Dan De Noyelles, who had an entry in the $10,000 stake at Hartford, said: "I found about July that Frederick Folger was out of shape, and telegraphed to Mr. Nelson, asking if he wanted to buy my entry or go shares. He replied that he would do either. At the last moment he came to me and said he would pay me the $1,000, which I refused. I shall now look to the Charter Oak track for my money." The Charter Oak Association gave DeNoyelles the $1,000.

Despite the many attractive features of the past week's racing at Sheepshead Bay it is difficult not to believe that the turf season of 1889 has seen its best day and is now on the decline. The public appetite has been cloyed with good sport this summer, and it is questionable whether the future meetings will see any such magnificent gatherings of racegoers as marked the closing days of the Monmouth meeting, the whole of the West Chester meeting and the opening day of the present Coney Island meeting.

In the three-minute class at Lexington on August 27, the chesnut mare Almater, by Hambrino, dam Alma Mater, by Mambrino Patchen; second dam Estella, thoroughbred daughter of Australian, won a second heat in 2:29¼, and a third in 2:29¼. This gives Alma Mater another representative in the 2:30 list. It is the dam of Alcantara, 2:23; Alcyone, 2:27; Alicia, 2:29; Arbiter, 2:30; and Almater, 2:29¼.

At the close of the recent meeting at Westchester, Belmont still remained at the head of the list of winning owners, being credited thus far this season with $97,060, followed by the Dwyer Brothers with $89,000, J. B. Haggin with $88,000, J. A. & A. H. Morris with $54,000, Theodore Winters with $51,000 and A. J. Cassatt with $48,000.

Chaos, winner of the Futurity stakes, is a chestnut gelding foaled on February 17, 1887. In color it is a light chestnut, with a blaze in its face and both hind legs white. It stands 15.3 and has a plain bony head and narrow muzzle, but good, open jaws, a large, light neck, prominent withers, deep in the brisket, and has great length from the point of the shoulder to point of hip.

J. Harper Bonnell purchased on Friday from the Elkton Stock Farm a pair of three-year-old fillies, one by Messenger Chief, dam by Regular, son of Volunteer [sire of St. Julien, 2:11½], and the other by Leclede, son of Happy Medium, dam by Partridge's Star of the West [sire of Capitola, 2:24¼.]

A daughter of the man who bred and raised Spokane now comes to the front and claims Montana as the home of the famous horse. She laughs at the "ozone of the Rockies" and the "morning tapees," spoke-root, etc., ideas, and says the horse never crossed the mountains but once, and then when a two-year-old.

W. P. Burch has sold all of his horses except Trousers, by Pantaloon, a fine looking yearling. Day, the jockey, bought T. Foley for $1,200 after seeing it work six furlongs in 1:17. Burch says he has decided not to train for Mr. Withers, but as yet has not made up his mind what to do.

The Wilmington, Delaware, fair was a success, and everything went smoothly, excepting that several farmers' sons ran into the fence with their horses and were thrown out of their sulkies while driving in the races. Fortunately the sturdy sons of husbandry were not hurt badly.

Robert Campbell, owner of Protection, bought the yearling filly by Saxon, out of Marionette, for $5,250, and Casey Winchell, El Rio Rey's jockey, bought a colt by Bersan, out of a sister of Joe Daniels, for $400, at the recent yearling sale at Westchester.

Thirteen sons of George Wilkes, 14 sons of Hambletonian, nine sons of Almont, five of Belmont, four of Volunteer, four of Daniel Lambert, three of Happy Medium and three of Electioneer have contributed new 2:30 performers to the list so far this year.

Five running records have been beaten this year. Geraldine cut the half-mile record down to 46 seconds, Britannic ran ⅞ of a mile in 59 seconds, El Rio Rey ran ⅞ of a mile in 1.11, Britannic ran ⅞ of a mile in 1.26 2-5 and Hindoocraft ran 1⅛ miles in 2.48.

Two thousand dollars have been offered and refused for the dam of the Canadian horse Gold Ring that made a record of 2 18 at the Detroit meeting. It was sold last fall for $350, but the performances of its son has made it valuable.

The chestnut mare Donna, foaled 1885, by Mambrino Patchen, dam Sunnyside, by Richelieu, broke its leg while running in the pasture recently and will probably have to be destroyed.

Exile illustrates what management will do. It has run only three times this year, but has won some $13,000 in stakes. Probably there are hundreds of horses which would be as good as it if they were managed as it is.

Spokane is a neat, pretty colt—a chestnut with a white face and hind legs, white to its hocks. It has a wonderfully prominent forehead, like the old Vandasl, without the Roman nose.

Mambrino Maid, the four-year-old daughter of Mambrino Startle, brother of Majolica, 2:15, made a record of 2:33 in the Phœnix Hotel stakes at the Lexington fair.

Lillian Wilkes broke the three-year-old filly record in California recently when it beat Sonol in 2:17¼. Lillian Wilkes is by Guy Wilkes, dam Flora, by Langford.

It is probable that the rich California turfmen, J. B. Haggin and Senator Hearst, will hereafter keep their stables in the East, where big money is "hung up."

The $5,000-stake race for three-minute-class horses at New-York City has eight entries, and the Melrose stake, $3,000, for 2:21 pacers, nine entries.

Barnes with 17 winning mounts, Murphy 15, Taral 13, Allen 12, and Stoval, Bunn and Williams 10 each, were the principal winning jockeys at Saratoga.

Miller & Sibley, of Franklin, Pa., have sold the stallion Elector, record 2:21¼, by Electioneer, to the Springfield, Ill., Stock Farm for $7,500.

The tracks at Morris Park, while they may be hard on horses with weak legs, are so wide that good starts and true running are possible.

There promise to be some interesting events at the Sheepshead Bay race course this week. Many well-known flyers are entered.

A son of the late John Murphy, a noted driver, is practicing riding with the view of going on the running turf.

The stakes and purses offered at the St. Louis fall meeting to be held October 1 to 6, amount to $25,000.

Garrison is the most successful jockey on the turf. He wins nearly all the grass races at Sheepshead Bay.

Proctor Knott is entered for the Bridge handicap, to be run at Sheepshead Bay this week.

Russia, the six-year-old sister of Maud S., made a record of 2:25 at the Lexington Fair.

Many turfmen believe that Magnate could have won the Futurity stakes for Belmont.

An offer of £16,000 was recently refused for the colt Tristan, by Hermit.

The trotter Guy may be sold to South American parties.

Jockey Hamilton won 16 races at the Westchester meeting.

The two horses which will command attention in the Balch Stallion race at Beacon Bark, Boston, on September 18, are Nelson and Alervon.

Terra Cotta is at Lexington, Ky.

There will be some big changes made in the Columbus Club next season. Manager Buckenberger says that the out-field will remain the same, but the changes will be made in the in field and in the pitching and catching department of the club.

Glasscock says that he expects to secure a left handed pitcher from the International League within a few days. Does he mean Knauss or Cushman or one of the older pitchers, Blair, Toole or Titcomb?

The St. Louis Club forfeited another 9 to 0 game yesterday. It refused to play at Ridgewood Park with the Brooklyns. This action may be the expulsion of Von der Ahe's team from the Association.

President Young has approved Manager Mutrie's suggestions that two umpires shall officiate in all games to be played between the New-York and Boston clubs for the rest of the season.

Probably the most ardent devotees of base ball in Wilmington are the daughters of ex-Secretary Bayard. They attend nearly every game and freely applaud the good plays on both sides.

Thompson's home runs have become so frequent that the League will probably demand the removal of the right field fence wall on the Philadelphia grounds.

Next season the double umpire system will be adopted and a foul tip caught by the catcher, while close up under the bat, will count as a strike.

Henry Boyle is now pitching the game of his life for the Indianapolis. Has the classification anything to do with it?

Hamilton is out with the statement that the team in that City next season will not be a tail-ender.

Manager Wright has met with unusual success in substituting pitchers during a game.

Cleveland lost 21 games by one run. They might as well have lost them by a mile.

Philace Viau, a brother of Leon, the Reds' pitcher, has been signed by St. Paul.

The reports concerning Horace Phillips' condition are conflicting.

A female ball club from Chicago has reached Buffalo.

SEARLE DEFEATS O'CONNOR.

The race on the Thames, England, for £1,000 and the Championship of the World, over a course four miles and three furlongs long, between William O'Connor, champion of the United States and Canada, and Henry E. Searle, the Australian, was rowed to-day and was won by Searle. At Hammersmith Bridge, one mile and three quarters from the start, Searle led by two lengths. He won by six lengths. Odds of five to four were given on O'Connor. Searle won the toss for position and chose the Surrey side of the River. O'Connor had the best of the start and led by half a length to the boat-house. Searles' time was 22:42.

ATHLETES.

The regatta held by the New-York Athletic Association on the Hudson at River Newburgh on Saturday was successfully carried out. About 5,000 people witnessed the sport. Joseph and James Donoghue were the victors in the single scull race, taking first and second prize respectively. They also gained second place in the double scull race, in which Elmer Simpson and John Pollock were first.

God-fearing people frown on Sunday ball playing, but it will be interesting for enthusiastic admirers of the game to know that it took the Athletics 13 innings yesterday to beat the tail-enders of the American Association, the Louisvilles.

LAWN TENNIS.

A finely contested lawn tennis tournament was played on the grounds of the Short Hills Lawn Tennis Club the past week. It was for ladies' and gentlemen's doubles and the prizes for both firsts and seconds were valuable silver souvenirs. In the preliminary round Miss Sand and Mr. Gardner beat Miss Stabb and Mr. Lovell, 6—5, 6—4. Miss Lovell and Mr. Stabb beat Miss Pitcher and Mr. Kobb, 6—5, 5—6, 11—9. The following are members of the team: Henry O'Reilly, first base; Myron Allen, second base; J. Smith, third base; George Johnston, short stop; E. Winter, right field; George Ertelt, centre field; Thomas O'Reilly, left field. The battery will be composed of professional players from New-York. On Friday a game will be played on the Union-avenue grounds with the Hudsons.

"Doing" a mile in 2:27 increased the value of a horse $3,500 one day last week on the Poughkeepsie Driving Park.

It is claimed mosquitoes have not been numerous this season along the Wallkill stream. They can well be spared.

AN ULSTER COUNTY BEAR STORY.

How Peter B. Markle, of Samsonville, Laid Bruin Low Near Ellenville.

Peter B. Markle, of Samsonville, who is an army veteran and has during his life killed and captured more than 20 bears, added another to the list, the other day, while journeying from his home among the Catskills to Ellenville. He brought with him in his wagon his little daughter and an old breech-loading rifle, which he had captured from the Confederates during the war. He was also accompanied by his dog, which is a cross between a mastiff and a deer hound. While crossing the "Me's Deaf" Mountain, not far from Brownsville, the dog was heard barking in that manner which sounds so pleasant to the ear of the sportsman and hunter. Markle took his old rifle from the wagon, and carefully examining it to see that it was "all right," stole into the thick woods leaving the little girl in the vehicle. He was soon recalled by the cries of the little girl, "Papa, papa, here's a bear." Hastening back he saw a large bear in in a tree not far from the wagon. Markle took careful aim, and Bruin dropped from the tree, when it was tackled by the dog, and a lively battle ensued. As Markle's gun was a breech-loader, he was able to give the dog efficient assistance, and soon a bullet found a vital part. The carcass of the bear weighed 260 pounds.

A Tidal Wave at Rockaway Beach—The Dr. Cronin Murder "Suspects"—Antwerp's Great Fire Subdued—New-York City's Real Estate Market—A Church Festival.

Yesterday was not a particularly inviting day for a trip to the seashore, but the weather has got to behave far worse than it did to prevent a crowd from gathering on the strand at Rockaway Beach of a Sunday afternoon in early September. The crowd from the cities clustered about New-York Bay was not comparatively large yesterday, but those who composed it—some 3,000 in number—were treated to an experience with the Atlantic Ocean they will not soon forget. Thick weather has been prevailing out at sea for three or four days, the ragged edges of the storm making occasional appearances in rain-threatening clouds over New-York and neighboring cities. Yesterday the sea, which had been rolling high, began to increase, rolling in huge billows shoreward and breaking in thundering roars on the beach. The wonderful power and majesty of the ocean in such commotion was the most attractive feature of the resorts strung along the beach, and there were large crowds watching the sea at what they supposed was a safe distance, when, at about 4:30 o'clock, a tidal wave rolled upon the beach 70 feet beyond the previous high-water mark. It broke over at least 2,000 men, women and children who were sitting, walking or standing on the strand. It came unperceived by the great majority, and although there was a general scramble to get beyond its reach but few were successful in wholly escaping its grasp. The great majority of the crowd suffered a thorough drenching. Many were tumbled over in the rush of waters, and several women and children were caught by the undertow and carried back toward the surf line. Their screams of terror were heard shrill above the roar of the waters, and for an instant it seemed as if some must be swept away and drowned, but strong arms reached for them and all were rescued with no more serious injuries than the shock, the fright and the drenching.

New-York City Briefs.

An attachment has been issued by Presiding Justice VanBrunt of the Supreme Court against the property in this State of Perrez Dickinson, of Knoxville, Tenn., in favor of M. L. Woods and J. C. Fay. Messrs. Woods and Fay have a claim of $24,048 against Dickinson for legal services rendered between July, 1885, and September, 1888, in litigation in the United States Court of Claims. They also allege that they appeared before a Congressional committee and secured an appropriation to cover the amount awarded Mr. Dickinson, and that he refused to carry out the agreement he had made with them.

D. Lowber Smith, Ex-Commissioner of Public Works, is not yet satisfied that he is not still rightfully the head of the department, in right, if not by decision of the court. His lawyers, Waterbury & Cox, yesterday secured from Presiding Justice VanBrunt a writ of certiorari for the review of all the proceedings by which Thomas P. Gilroy was declared to be the legally-appointed Commissioner. The writ is directed against Judge Barrett.

The cotton market is interesting just now. There is an unusual demand for September cotton from Liverpool, and the freight engagements up to the eighteenth of this month are very large. Although the September option went down five points yesterday, 20 points premium on the market price has been paid for short notices—that is, cotton that may be had to ship before September 18.

Two Steam Barges Collide.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 9.—A collision occurred Saturday night at South Bend, St. Clair Flats, between the steam barges Philip D'Armour, bound down with a full cargo of corn and the Marion, coal-laden, bound up. The Marion struck the Armour on the starboard bow with great force, sending the latter to the bottom. It lies in 50 feet of water. Its texas and pilot house floated off. The crew all escaped, but some of them had a close call. The Marion is lying at the scene of the collision, with its bow on the Canadian bank and its stern resting athwartships of the Armour, about over the latter's engine-room. The Marion's bows are badly crushed.

CARNIVAL OF MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Divorced Wife Shot—A Shipping Clerk's Rash Act—Fatal Quarrel Among Miners.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 8.—John McGuffie shot and killed his divorced wife at San Pedro yesterday. He then placed the pistol to his breast and shot himself, probably fatally. McGuffie asked his wife to return to him and she refused.

TACOMA, W. T., Sept. 9.—Yesterday morning Henry Stewart, of the Stuart & Holmes Drug Company, found his shipping clerk, F. Eugene Clark, looking strange and accused him of being intoxicated. He denied the charge, but handed over the keys on Mr. Stewart's demand. He had hardly done this when he fell backward insensible. Clark was taken to a doctor's office, where it was found that he was suffering from poison. A search of the house revealed the fact that a bottle of atropia had been emptied a minute previously. As soon as Clark had been taken to the doctor's office Mr. Stewart crossed the hall to a room, which had been occupied by Clark, where a woman about 30 years of age was lying dead on the bed with the back part of her head shot off. The Coroner opened an investigation, at which evidence was given showing that the woman, Florence Cross, had been drinking with a Northern Pacific yardsman and that she took him to Clark's room. Clark quarreled with the woman's companion and finally shot her dead. Seeing what he had done he swallowed the poison. Clark came here from St. Paul.

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept 9.—A shooting affray occurred at North Springs, Wyoming County, Saturday, in which three miners named Lester, Collins and West were engaged. The quarrel arose over an old grudge between Collins and West. Lester and West assaulted Collins and shot him twice. Collins returned the fire, wounding both men. A third shot from West's revolver blew Collins, brains out. Lester died from his wounds.

Chief Grass will Recover.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BISMARCK, Dak., Sept. 9.—Agent McLaughlin has just come from the bedside of Chief John Grass, who has been at the point of death for some time, and reports the great chief convalescent. He states that Grass was overcome by the heat, and a swelling formed in his throat. To reduce the swelling he used a gargle of kerosene oil and the strain was so great that it caused hemorrhage, which came near sending the Chief to the happy hunting grounds. The report that Sitting Bull had been arrested for poisoning John Grass was unfounded.

General Railroad Notes.

There will be two 1,500 feet bridges on the Lehigh Valley Railroad's branch into Schuylkill County, Pa.

The Pennsylvania Railroad is about to make experiments with 60-foot rails. The common rail is 30 feet long.

The Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at its meeting this week, will probably choose a successor to the late William Thaw.

Journalistic.

Earnest Jarrold mentioned in a dispatch printed on Saturday in THE FREEMAN concerning Brodie going over Niagara Falls in a rubber suit is the author of the "Mickey Finn" stories, the scenes of which are laid in Rondout. Mr. Jarrold graduated on THE FREEMAN. So did Harry Alloway, of the New-York Times, who does that paper's Wall-street talk. So did David S. Hasbrouck, Managing Editor of the Troy Times, and numerous other successful journalists. Mr. Jarrold is one of the New-York Sun's bright young men.

There is something radically wrong with the New-York World's mailing department. Half the time the World reaches here on time, the other half it is late. No, the mail service is not to blame. The Times, Herald, Sun, Star, Tribune, etc., "never miss."

The Wurtsboro Dispatch was printed one day earlier than usual last week, so as to allow one of the editors to "blow a horn" in a band at the Sullivan County fair.

The editor of the Windham Journal returns thanks "for a German carp weighing two and a half pounds."

Affairs of Local Railroads.

The usual fall schedule for the running of trains has been adopted on the Ulster & Delaware, Stony Clove & Catskill Mountain and Kaaterskill Railroads. On the West Shore Railroad trains Nos. 35, 36, 37 and 38 and 40 have been taken off. The Saturday half-holiday train will be continued. New-Jersey Junction trains Nos. 1, 2, 3, 6, 35, and 36 have been discontinued. The train on the Jersey Junction Road which hitherto left at 3:30 now leave at 3:40 P. M., and the train formerly leaving Weehawken for Jersey City at 6:10 P. M., now leaves at 7. These trains make connection with trains Nos. 12 and 13. For a few days drawing room cars will continue to run between Jersey City and Saratoga and between Weehawken and the Grand Hotel station on the Ulster & Delaware Railroad on trains Nos. 7 and 8. There are no changes in the local or through service.

Engineer Minks, of the Central-Hudson Railroad, made a run of 97 miles in 90 minutes one day recently with Superintendent Bissell's new parlor locomotive.

Boats and Boatmen.

The old steamboat Magenta, which ran on the Newburgh and Albany line in 1862, brought a party of Newark excursionists to Newburgh one day recently.

The whistle of the steamer "City of Kingston" was blown at the mouth of the Rondout Creek at 7:14 o'clock Saturday night.

There arrived at tidewater at Eddyville Saturday 32 Delaware & Hudson Canal boats, laden with 4,300 tons of coal.

The propeller Pontiac, of Albany, having in tow the barge Petrel, entered the Rondout Creek this morning.

George Ruppert's steam pleasure yacht, run by naptha, was in the Rondout Creek today.

Commodore Booth's new yacht was launched at Poughkeepsie on Saturday.

Some Fruit and Farm Notes.

Concord grapes have dropped in price to three cents per pound along the Hudson River. Although the fruit is plentiful, its quality is somewhat inferior, owing to rot and uneven ripening. Over 89 per cent. of a full crop will be gathered despite the predictions made by speculators and interested middlemen that the Concords were ruined. Heavy shipments may be looked for this week.

Farmers or others who discover strange insects preying on crops are requested to forward specimens to the Central Office of the New-York Weather Service, Cornell University.

Jacob Armstrong, of Coxsackie, recently exhibited an apple weighing 20 ounces.

Hours of Recreation.

The people of St. John's Parish, Barrytown, will have a Harvest Home Festival on Thursday, September 12. Religious exercises will be held also on that day and the new church organ will be heard for the first time.

The members of Kingston Union No. 251, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, will make an excursion on the Ulster & Delaware Railroad to Shokan on September 16.

Certain young ladies of the Wurts-Street M. E. Church are rehearsing for a Japanese wedding, to be celebrated in the Chapel on Wednesday evening.

The members of the Rondout Social Maennerchor held a picnic in O'Reilly's Grove this afternoon. It will be continued this evening.

Golden rod festivals are the latest.

GENERAL SPORTING NEWS.

ON THE DIAMOND, THE RACE TRACK AND CINDER PATH.

The Record of the League and Association Base Ball Clubs—Von der Ahe's Team May Be Expelled—About Horses Fleet of Foot—At Sheepshead Bay Course, Etc.

Sporting matters of general interest in various parts of the United States follow:

HORSE NOTES.

Dan De Noyelles, who had an entry in the $10,000 stake at Hartford, said: "I found about July that Frederick Folger was out of shape, and telegraphed to Mr. Nelson, asking if he wanted to buy my entry or go shares. He replied that he would do either. At the last moment he came to me and said he would pay me the $1,000, which I refused. I shall now look to the Charter Oak track for my money." The Charter Oak Association gave DeNoyelles the $1,000.

Despite the many attractive features of the past week's racing at Sheepshead Bay it is difficult not to believe that the turf season of 1889 has seen its best day and is now on the decline. The public appetite has been cloyed with good sport this summer, and it is questionable whether the future meetings will see any such magnificent gatherings of racegoers as marked the closing days of the Monmouth meeting, the whole of the West-Chester meeting and the opening day of the present Coney Island meeting.

In the three-minute class at Lexington on August 27, the chesnut mare Almater, by Hambrino, dam Alma Mater, by Mambrino Patchen; second dam Estella, thoroughbred daughter of Australian, won a second heat in 2:29¼, and a third in 2:29¼. This gives Alma Mater another representative in the 2:30 list. It is the dam of Alcantara, 2:23; Alcyone, 2:27; Alicia, 2:29; Arbiter, 2:30; and Almater, 2:29¼.

At the close of the recent meeting at Westchester, Belmont still remained at the head of the list of winning owners, being credited thus far this season with $97,000, followed by the Dwyer Brothers with $89,000, J. B. Haggin with $88,000, J. A. & A. H. Morris with $54,000, Theodore Winters with $51,000 and A. J. Cassatt with $18,000.

Chaos, winner of the Futurity stakes, is a chestnut gelding foaled on February 17, 1887. In color it is a light chestnut, with a blaze in its face and both hind legs white. It stands 15.3 and has a plain bony head and narrow muzzle, but good, open jaws, a large, light neck, prominent withers, deep in the brisket, and has great length from the point of the shoulder to point of hip.

J. Harper Bonnell purchased on Friday from the Elkton Stock Farm a pair of three-year-old fillies, one by Messenger Chief, dam by Regular, son of Volunteer [sire of St. Julien, 2:11½], and the other by Leclede, son of Happy Medium, dam by Partridge's Star of the West [sire of Capitola, 2:24½.]

A daughter of the man who bred and raised Spokane now comes to the front and claims Montana as the home of the famous horse. She laughs at the "ozone of the Rockies" and the "morning tapees," spoke-root, etc., ideas, and says the horse never crossed the mountains but once, and then when a two-year-old.

W. P. Burch has sold all of his horses except Trousers, by Pantaloon, a fine looking yearling. Day, the jockey, bought T. Foley for $1,200 after seeing it work six furlongs in 1:17. Burch says he has decided not to train for Mr. Withers, but as yet has no made up his mind what to do.

The Wilmington, Delaware, fair was a success, and everything went smoothly, excepting that several farmers' sons ran into the fence with their horses and were thrown out of their sulkies while driving in the races. Fortunately the sturdy sons of husbandry were not hurt badly.

Robert Campbell, owner of Protection, bought the yearling filly by Saxon, out of Marionette, for $5,250, and Casey Winchell, El Rio Rey's jockey, bought a colt by Bersan, out of a sister of Joe Daniels, for $400, at the recent yearling sale at Westchester.

Thirteen sons of George Wilkes, 14 sons of Hambletonian, nine sons of Almont, five of Belmont, four of Volunteer, four of Daniel Lambert, three of Happy Medium and three of Electioneer have contributed new 2:30 performers to the list so far this year.

Five running records have been beaten this year. Geraldine cut the half-mile record down to 46 seconds, Britannic ran ⅞ of a mile in 59 seconds, El Rio Rey ran ⅞ of a mile in 1.11, Britannic ran ¾ of a mile in 1.26 2-5 and Hindoocraft ran 1⅛ miles in 2.48.

Two thousand dollars have been offered and refused for the dam of the Canadian horse Gold Ring that made a record of 2.18 at the Detroit meeting. It was sold last fall for $350, but the performances of its son has made it valuable.

The chestnut mare Donna, foaled 1885, by Mambrino Patchen, dam Sunnyside, by Richelieu, broke its leg while running in the pasture recently and will probably have to be destroyed.

Exile illustrates what management will do. It has run only three times this year, but has won some $13,000 in stakes. Probably there are hundreds of horses which would be as good as it if they were managed as it is.

Spokane is a neat, pretty colt—a chestnut with a white face and hind legs, white to its hocks. It has a wonderfully prominent forehead, like the old Vandal, without the Roman nose.

Mambrino Maid, the four-year-old daughter of Mambrino Startle, brother of Majolica, 2:15, made a record of 2:33 in the Phœnix Hotel stakes at the Lexington fair.

Lillian Wilkes broke the three-year-old filly record in California recently when it beat Sonol in 2:17¾. Lillian Wilkes is by Guy Wilkes, dam Flora, by Langford.

It is probable that the rich California turfmen, J. B. Haggin and Senator Hearst, will hereafter keep their stables in the East, where big money is "hung up."

The $5,000-stake race for three-minute-class horses at New-York City has eight entries, and the Melrose stake, $3,000, for 2:21 pacers, nine entries.

Barnes with 17 winning mounts, Murphy 15, Taral 13, Allen 12, and Stoval, Bunn and Williams 10 each, were the principal winning jockeys at Saratoga.

Miller & Sibley, of Franklin, Pa., have sold the stallion Elector, record 2:21¼, by Electioneer, to the Springfield, Ill., Stock Farm for $7,500.

The tracks at Morris Park, while they may be hard on horses with weak legs, are so wide that good starts and true running are possible.

There promise to be some interesting events at the Sheepshead Bay race course this week. Many well-known flyers are entered.

A son of the late John Murphy, a noted driver, is practicing riding with the view of going on the running turf.

The stakes and purses offered at the St. Louis fall meeting to be held October 1 to 6, amount to $25,000.

Garrison is the most successful jockey on the turf. He wins nearly all the grass races at Sheepshead Bay.

Proctor Knott is entered for the Bridge handicap, to be run at Sheapshead Bay this week.

Russia, the six-year-old sister of Maud S., made a record of 2:25 at the Lexington Fair.

Many turfmen believe that Magnate could have won the Futurity stakes for Belmont.

An offer of £16,000 was recently refused for the colt Tristan, by Hermit.

The trotter Guy may be sold to South American parties.

Jockey Hamilton won 16 races at the Westchester meeting.

The two horses which will command attention in the Balch Stallion race at Beacon Park, Boston, on September 18, are Nelson and Aleryon.

Terra Cotta is at Lexington, Ky.

There will be some big changes made in the Columbus Club next season. Manager Buckenberger says that the out field will remain the same, but the changes will be made in the in field and in the pitching and catching department of the club.

Glasscock says that he expects to secure a left handed pitcher from the International League within a few days. Does he mean Knauss or Cushman or one of the older pitchers, Blair, Toole or Titcomb?

The St. Louis Club forfeited another 9 to 0 game yesterday. It refused to play at Ridgewood Park with the Brooklyns. This action may be the expulsion of Von der Ahe's team from the Association.

President Young has approved Manager Mutrie's suggestions that two umpires shall officiate in all games to be played between the New-York and Boston clubs for the rest of the season.

Probably the most ardent devotees of base ball in Wilmington are the daughters of ex-Secretary Bayard. They attend nearly every game and freely applaud the good plays on both sides.

Thompson's home runs have become so frequent that the League will probably demand the removal of the right field fence wall on the Philadelphia grounds.

Next season the double umpire system will be adopted and a foul tip caught by the catcher, while close up under the bat, will count as a strike.

Henry Boyle is now pitching the game of his life for the Indianapolis. Has the classification anything to do with it?

Hamilton is out with the statement that the team in that City next season will not be a tail-ender.

Manager Wright has met with unusual success in substituting pitchers during a game.

Cleveland lost 21 games by one run. They might as well have lost them by a mile.

Philace Vian, a brother of Leon, the Reds' pitcher, has been signed by St. Paul.

The reports concerning Horace Phillips' condition are conflicting.

A female ball club from Chicago has reached Buffalo.

SEARLE DEFEATS O'CONNOR.

The race on the Thames, England, for £1,000 and the Championship of the World, over a course four miles and three furlongs long, between William O'Connor, champion of the United States and Canada, and Henry E. Searle, the Australian, was rowed to-day and was won by Searle. At Hammersmith Bridge, one mile and three quarters from the start, Searle led by two lengths. He won by six lengths. Odds of five to four were given on O'Connor. Searle won the toss for position and chose the Surrey side of the River. O'Connor had the best of the start and led by half a length to the boat-house. Searles' time was 22:42.

ATHLETES.

The regatta held by the New-York Athletic Association on the Hudson at River Newburgh on Saturday was successfully carried out. About 5,000 people witnessed the sport. Joseph and James Donoghue were the victors in the single scull race, taking first and second prize respectively. They also gained second place in the double scull race, in which Elmer Simpson and John Pollock were first.

God fearing people frown on Sunday ball playing, but it will be interesting for enthusiastic admirers of the game to know that it took the Athletics 13 innings yesterday to beat the tail enders of the American Association, the Louisvilles.

LAWN TENNIS.

A finely contested lawn tennis tournament was played on the grounds of the Short Hills Lawn Tennis Club the past week. It was for ladies' and gentlemen's doubles and the prizes for both firsts and seconds were valuable silver souvenirs. In the preliminary round Miss Sand and Mr. Gardner beat Miss Stabb and Mr. Lovell, 6—5, 6—4. Miss Lovell and Mr. Stabb beat Miss Pitcher and Mr. Kobb, 6—5, 5—6, 11—9. First round Miss Sand and Mr. Gardner beat Miss Lovell and Mr. Stabb, 6—4, 6—5; Miss Barrows and Mr. Lough beat Mrs. Warfield and Mr. Sand, 6—4, 6—5. Final, Miss Sand and Mr. Gardner beat Miss Barrows and Mr. Lough, 6—2, 6—3, 6—4.

WHEELING NOTES.

The following are members of the team: Henry O'Reilly, first base; Myron Allen, second base; J. Smith, third base; George Johnston, short stop; E. Winter, right field; George Ertelt, centre field; Thomas O'Reilly, left field. The battery will be composed of professional players from New-York. On Friday a game will be played on the Union-avenue grounds with the Hudsons.

A trot for $100 a side will take place at Orr's Mills, Orange County, on Saturday. The prospective contesting horses are owned by M. Maroney and Patrick Bevens and are said to be evenly matched.

This afternoon a foot race for $200 a side took place on the Kingston Driving Park between Steven Townsend, of Scranton, Pa., and a man named Webb, of Rosendale.

AN ULSTER COUNTY BEAR STORY.

How Peter B. Markle, of Samsonville, Laid Bruin Low Near Ellenville.

Peter B. Markle, of Samsonville, who is an army veteran and has during his life killed and captured more than 20 bears, added another to the list, the other day, while journeying from his home among the Catskills to Ellenville. He brought with him in his wagon his little daughter and an old breech-loading rifle, which he had captured from the Confederates during the war. He was also accompanied by his dog, which is a cross between a mastiff and a deer hound. While crossing the "Me's Deaf" Mountain, not far from Brownsville, the dog was heard barking in that manner which sounds so pleasant to the ear of the sportsman and hunter. Markle took his old rifle from the wagon, and carefully examining it to see that it was "all right," stole into the thick woods leaving the little girl in the vehicle. He was soon recalled by the cries of the little girl, "Papa, papa, here's a bear." Hastening back he saw a large bear in in a tree not far from the wagon. Markle took careful aim, and Bruin dropped from the tree, when it was tackled by the dog, and a lively battle ensued. As Markle's gun was a breech-loader, he was able to give the dog efficient assistance, and soon a bullet found a vital part. The carcass of the bear weighed 260 pounds.

The Amusement Record.

"Bunch of Keys" will be on the boards at Liscomb's on September 12. This has been printed about the play:

Hoyt's "Bunch of Keys" will be the play. * * The company is decidedly clever, and though the piece is a jolly three seasons to exert an impression in the mind of each of the company that the success of the play depends upon the work that each individual can accomplish. An excellent thing about this company is they act with a vim, and there is no time throughout the three acts when the fun is allowed to relax.

A Tidal Wave at Rockaway Beach—The Dr. Cronin Murder "Suspects"—Antwerp's Great Fire Subdued—New-York City's Real Estate Market—A Church Festival.

Yesterday was not a particularly inviting day for a trip to the seashore, but the weather has got to behave far worse than it did to prevent a crowd from gathering on the strand at Rockaway Beach of a Sunday afternoon in early September. The crowd from the cities clustered about New-York Bay was not comparatively large yesterday, but those who composed it—some 3,000 in number—were treated to an experience with the Atlantic Ocean they will not soon forget. Thick weather has been prevailing out at sea for three or four days, the ragged edges of the storm making occasional appearances in rain-threatening clouds over New-York and neighboring cities. Yesterday the sea, which had been rolling high, began to increase, rolling in huge billows shoreward and breaking in thundering roars on the beach. The wonderful power and majesty of the ocean in such commotion was the most attractive feature of the resorts strung along the beach, and there were large crowds watching the sea at what they supposed was a safe distance, when, at about 4:30 o'clock, a tidal wave rolled upon the beach 70 feet beyond the previous high-water mark. It broke over at least 2,000 men, women and children who were sitting, walking or standing on the strand. It came unperceived by the great majority, and although there was a general scramble to get beyond its reach but few were successful in wholly escaping its grasp. The great majority of the crowd suffered a thorough drenching. Many were tumbled over in the rush of waters, and several women and children were caught by the undertow and carried back toward the surf line. Their screams of terror were heard shrill above the roar of the waters, and for an instant it seemed as if some must be swept away and drowned, but strong arms reached for them and all were rescued with no more serious injuries than the shock, the fright and the drenching.

A dispatch to the London Chronicle from Rome reads: "The Pope has abandoned the idea of leaving Rome, the German Government having mediated in his behalf and assured him that in the event of a war Italy would strictly respect his position."

W. E. Gladstone said yesterday to the reporter of a Paris paper, "I have come over to Paris for a special purpose. I am too old to travel merely for the sake of the pleasure travel affords. I have come in order to show good will and respect to France."

It is reported that there is a hitch in the negotiations for the proposed loan to the Bulgarian Government by an American syndicate, and that the Government is receiving offers from German and Austrian financiers.

The Cœur d'Alene Indians, of Idaho, are expected to accept the Government's terms for the surrender of their timber and mineral lands and the navigable waters of their reservation.

The numerous sales of vacant lots at the very opening of the season are considered as indicative of a coming speculative period in the real estate market of New-York City.

A "Peeping Tom" was detected hidden under some bath houses in Greenville, Jersey City, yesterday, and summarily ducked in the Bay until he was nearly drowned.

The Chinese festival of "Yueh Bing," or "Moon Worship," was celebrated by the Mongolians in Mott-street by feasting, a concert and fire-crackers on Sunday.

New-York City Briefs.

An attachment has been issued by Presiding Justice VanBrunt of the Supreme Court against the property in this State of Perrez Dickinson, of Knoxville, Tenn., in favor of M. L. Woods and J. C. Fay. Messrs. Woods and Fay have a claim of $24,048 against Dickinson for legal services rendered between July, 1885, and September, 1888, in litigation in the United States Court of Claims. They also allege that they appeared before a Congressional committee and secured an appropriation to cover the amount awarded Mr. Dickinson, and that he refused to carry out the agreement he had made with them.

D. Lowber Smith, Ex-Commissioner of Public Works, is not yet satisfied that he is not still rightfully the head of the department, in right, if not by decision of the court. His lawyers, Waterbury & Cox, yesterday secured from Presiding Justice VanBrunt a writ of certiorari for the review of all the proceedings by which Thomas P. Gilroy was declared to be the legally-appointed Commissioner. The writ is directed against Judge Barrett.

The cotton market is interesting just now. There is an unusual demand for September cotton from Liverpool, and the freight engagements up to the eighteenth of this month are very large. Although the September option went down five points yesterday, 20 points premium on the market price has been paid for short notices—that is, cotton that may be had to ship before September 18.

Two Steam Barges Collide.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 9.—A collision occurred Saturday night at South Bend, St. Clair Flats, between the steam barges Philip D'Armour, bound down with a full cargo of corn and the Marion, coal-laden, bound up. The Marion struck the Armour on the starboard bow with great force, sending the latter to the bottom. It lies in 50 feet of water. Its texas and pilot house floated off. The crew all escaped, but some of them had a close call. The Marion is lying at the scene of the collision, with its bow on the Canadian bank and its stern resting athwartships of the Armour, about over the latter's engine-room. The Marion's bows are badly crushed.

CARNIVAL OF MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Divorced Wife Shot—A Shipping Clerk's Rash Act—Fatal Quarrel Among Miners.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 8.—John McGuffie shot and killed his divorced wife at San Pedro yesterday. He then placed the pistol to his breast and shot himself, probably fatally. McGuffie asked his wife to return to him and she refused.

TACOMA, W. T., Sept. 9.—Yesterday morning Henry Stewart, of the Stuart & Holmes Drug Company, found his shipping clerk, F. Eugene Clark, looking strange and accused him of being intoxicated. He denied the charge, but handed over the keys on Mr. Stewart's demand. He had hardly done this when he fell backward insensible. Clark was taken to a doctor's office, where it was found that he was suffering from poison. A search of the house revealed the fact that a bottle of atropia had been emptied a minute previously. As soon as Clark had been taken to the doctor's office Mr. Stewart crossed the hall to a room, which had been occupied by Clark, where a woman about 30 years of age was lying dead on the bed with the back part of her head shot off. The Coroner opened an investigation, at which evidence was given showing that the woman, Florence Cross, had been drinking with a Northern Pacific yardsman and that she took him to Clark's room. Clark quareled with the woman's companion and finally shot her dead. Seeing what he had done he swallowed the poison. Clark came here from St. Paul.

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept 9.—A shooting affray occurred at North Springs, Wyoming County, Saturday, in which three miners named Lester, Collins and West were engaged. The quarrel arose over an old grudge between Collins and West. Lester and West assaulted Collins and shot him twice. Collins returned the fire, wounding both men. A third shot from West's revolver blew Collins, brains out. Lester died from his wounds.

Chief Grass will Recover.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

BISMARCK, Dak., Sept. 9.—Agent McLaughlin has just come from the bedside of Chief John Grass, who has been at the point of death for some time, and reports the great chief convalescent. He states that Grass was overcome by the heat, and a swelling formed in his throat. To reduce the swelling he used a gargle of kerosene oil and the strain was so great that it caused hemorrhage, which came near sending the Chief to the happy hunting grounds. The report that Sitting Bull had been arrested for poisoning John Grass was unfounded.

Journalistic.

Earnest Jarrold mentioned in a dispatch printed on Saturday in THE FREEMAN concerning Brodie going over Niagara Falls in a rubber suit is the author of the "Mickey Finn" stories, the scenes of which are laid in Rondout. Mr. Jarrold graduated on THE FREEMAN. So did Harry Alloway, of the New-York Times, who does that paper's Wall-street talk. So did David S. Hasbrouck, Managing Editor of the Troy Times, and numerous other successful journalists. Mr. Jarrold is one of the New-York Sun's bright young men.

There is something radically wrong with the New-York World's mailing department. Half the time the World reaches here on time, the other half it is late. No, the mail service is not to blame. The Times, Herald, Sun, Star, Tribune, etc., "never miss."

The Wurtsboro Dispatch was printed one day earlier than usual last week, so as to allow one of the editors to "blow a horn" in a band at the Sullivan County fair.

The editor of the Windham Journal returns thanks "for a German carp weighing two and a half pounds."

Affairs of Local Railroads.

The usual fall schedule for the running of trains has been adopted on the Ulster & Delaware, Stony Clove & Catskill Mountain and Kaaterskill Railroads. On the West Shore Railroad trains Nos. 35, 36, 37 and 38 and 40 have been taken off. The Saturday half-holiday train will be continued. New-Jersey Junction trains Nos. 1, 2, 3, 6, 35, and 36 have been discontinued. The train on the Jersey Junction Road which hitherto left at 3:30 now leave at 3:40 P. M., and the train formerly leaving Weehawken for Jersey City at 6:10 P. M., now leaves at 7. These trains make connection with trains Nos. 12 and 13. For a few days drawing room cars will continue to run between Jersey City and Saratoga and between Weehawken and the Grand Hotel station on the Ulster & Delaware Railroad on trains Nos. 7 and 8. There are no changes in the local or through service.

Engineer Minks, of the Central-Hudson Railroad, made a run of 97 miles in 90 minutes one day recently with Superintendent Bissell's new parlor locomotive.

There arrived at tidewater at Eddyville Saturday 32 Delaware & Hudson Canal boats, laden with 4,300 tons of coal.

The propeller Pontiac, of Albany, having in tow the barge Petrel, entered the Rondout Creek this morning.

George Ruppert's steam pleasure yacht, run by naptha, was in the Rondout Creek today.

Commodore Booth's new yacht was launched at Poughkeepsie on Saturday.

Some Fruit and Farm Notes.

Concord grapes have dropped in price to three cents per pound along the Hudson River. Although the fruit is plentiful, its quality is somewhat inferior, owing to rot and uneven ripening. Over 89 per cent. of a full crop will be gathered despite the predictions made by speculators and interested middlemen that the Concords were ruined. Heavy shipments may be looked for this week.

Farmers or others who discover strange insects preying on crops are requested to forward specimens to the Central Office of the New-York Weather Service, Cornell University.

Jacob Armstrong, of Coxsackie, recently exhibited an apple weighing 20 ounces.

HORSE NOTES.

Dan De Noyelles, who had an entry in the $10,000 stake at Hartford, said: "I found about July that Frederick Folger was out of shape, and telegraphed to Mr. Nelson, asking if he wanted to buy my entry or go shares. He replied that he would do either. At the last moment he came to me and said he would pay me the $1,000, which I refused. I shall now look to the Charter Oak track for my money." The Charter Oak Association gave DeNoyelles the $1,000.

Despite the many attractive features of the past week's racing at Sheepshead Bay it is difficult not to believe that the turf season of 1889 has seen its best day and is now on the decline. The public appetite has been cloyed with good sport this summer, and it is questionable whether the future meetings will see any such magnificent gatherings of racegoers as marked the closing days of the Monmouth meeting, the whole of the West-Chester meeting and the opening day of the present Coney Island meeting.

In the three-minute class at Lexington on August 27, the chestnut mare Almater, by Hambrino, dam Alma Mater, by Mambrino Patchen; second dam Estella, thoroughbred daughter of Australian, won a second heat in 2:29½, and a third in 2:29¼. This gives Alma Mater another representative in the 2:30 list. It is the dam of Alcantara, 2:23; Alcyone, 2:27; Alicia, 2:29; Arbiter, 2:30; and Almater, 2:29½.

At the close of the recent meeting at Westchester, Belmont still remained at the head of the list of winning owners, being credited thus far this season with $97,000, followed by the Dwyer Brothers with $89,000, J. B. Haggin with $88,000, J. A. & A. H. Morris with $54,000, Theodore Winters with $51,000 and A. J. Cassatt with $48,000.

Chaos, winner of the Futurity stakes, is a chestnut gelding foaled on February 17, 1887. In color it is a light chestnut, with a blaze in its face and both hind legs white. It stands 15.3 and has a plain bony head and narrow muzzle, but good, open jaws, a large, light neck, prominent withers, deep in the brisket, and has great length from the point of the shoulder to point of hip.

J. Harper Bonnell purchased on Friday from the Elkton Stock Farm a pair of three-year-old fillies, one by Messenger Chief, dam by Regular, son of Volunteer [sire of St. Julien, 2:11¼], and the other by Leclede, son of Happy Medium, dam by Partridge's Star of the West [sire of Capitola, 2:24½.]

A daughter of the man who bred and raised Spokane now comes to the front and claims Montana as the home of the famous horse. She laughs at the "ozone of the Rockies" and the "morning tapees," spoke-root, etc., ideas, and says the horse never crossed the mountains but once, and then when a two-year-old.

W. P. Burch has sold all of his horses except Trousers, by Pantaloon, a fine-looking yearling. Day, the jockey, bought T. Foley for $1,200 after seeing it work six furlongs in 1:17. Burch says he has decided not to train for Mr. Withers, but as yet has not made up his mind what to do.

The Wilmington, Delaware, fair was a success, and everything went smoothly, excepting that several farmers' sons ran into the fence with their horses and were thrown out of their sulkies while driving in the races. Fortunately the sturdy sons of husbandry were not hurt badly.

Robert Campbell, owner of Protection, bought the yearling filly by Saxon, out of Marionette, for $5,250, and Casey Winchell, El Rio Rey's jockey, bought a colt by Bersan, out of a sister of Joe Daniels, for $400, at the recent yearling sale at Westchester.

Thirteen sons of George Wilkes, 14 sons of Hambletonian, nine sons of Almont, five of Belmont, four of Volunteer, four of Daniel Lambert, three of Happy Medium and three of Electioneer have contributed new 2:30 performers to the list so far this year.

Five running records have been beaten this year. Geraldine cut the half-mile record down to 46 seconds, Britannic ran ⅝ of a mile in 59 seconds, El Rio Rey ran ⅝ of a mile in 1.11, Britannic ran ¾ of a mile in 1.26 2-5 and Hindoocraft ran 1¼ miles in 2.48.

Two thousand dollars have been offered and refused for the dam of the Canadian horse Gold Ring that made a record of 2 18 at the Detroit meeting. It was sold last fall for $350, but the performances of its son has made it valuable.

The chestnut mare Donna, foaled 1885, by Mambrino Patchen, dam Sunnyside, by Richelieu, broke its leg while running in the pasture recently and will probably have to be destroyed.

Exile illustrates what management will do. It has run only three times this year, but has won some $13,000 in stakes. Probably there are hundreds of horses which would be as good as it if they were managed as it is.

Spokane is a neat, pretty colt—a chestnut with a white face and hind legs, white to its hocks. It has a wonderfully prominent forehead, like the old Vandasl, without the Roman nose.

Mambrino Maid, the four-year-old daughter of Mambrino Startle, brother of Majolica, 2:15, made a record of 2:33 in the Phœnix Hotel stakes at the Lexington fair.

Lillian Wilkes broke the three-year-old filly record in California recently when it beat Sonol in 2:17¼. Lillian Wilkes is by Guy Wilkes, dam Flora, by Langford.

It is probable that the rich California turfmen, J. B. Haggin and Senator Hearst, will hereafter keep their stables in the East, where big money is "hung up."

The $5,000-stake race for three-minute-class horses at New-York City has eight entries, and the Melrose stake, $3,000, for 2:21 pacers, nine entries.

Barnes with 17 winning mounts, Murphy 15, Taral 13, Allen 12, and Stoval, Bunn and Williams 10 each, were the principal winning jockeys at Saratoga.

Miller & Sibley, of Franklin, Pa., have sold the stallion Elector, record 2:21¼, by Electioneer, to the Springfield, Ill., Stock Farm for $7,500.

The tracks at Morris Park, while they may be hard on horses with weak legs, are so wide that good starts and true running are possible.

There promise to be some interesting events at the Sheepshead Bay race course this week. Many well-known flyers are entered.

A son of the late John Murphy, a noted driver, is practicing riding with the view of going on the running turf.

The stakes and purses offered at the St. Louis fall meeting to be held October 1 to 6, amount to $25,000.

Garrison is the most successful jockey on the turf. He wins nearly all the grass races at Sheepshead Bay.

Proctor Knott is entered for the Bridge handicap, to be run at Sheepshead Bay this week.

Russia, the six-year-old sister of Maud S., made a record of 2:25 at the Lexington Fair.

Many turfmen believe that Magnate could have won the Futurity stakes for Belmont.

An offer of £16,000 was recently refused for the colt Tristan, by Hermit.

The trotter Guy may be sold to South American parties.

Jockey Hamilton won 16 races at the Westchester meeting.

The two horses which will command attention in the Balch Stallion race at Beacon Bark, Boston, on September 18, are Nelson and Alcryon.

Terra Cotta is at Lexington, Ky.

There will be some big changes made in the Columbus Club next season. Manager Buckenberger says that the out-field will remain the same, but the changes will be made in the in field and in the pitching and catching department of the club.

Glasscock says that he expects to secure a left handed pitcher from the International League within a few days. Does he mean Knauss or Cushman or one of the older pitchers, Blair, Toole or Titcomb?

The St. Louis Club forfeited another 9 to 0 game yesterday. It refused to play at Ridgewood Park with the Brooklyns. This action may be the expulsion of Von der Ahe's team from the Association.

President Young has approved Manager Mutrie's suggestions that two umpires shall officiate in all games to be played between the New-York and Boston clubs for the rest of the season.

Probably the most ardent devotees of base ball in Wilmington are the daughters of ex-Secretary Bayard. They attend nearly every game and freely applaud the good plays on both sides.

Thompson's home runs have become so frequent that the League will probably demand the removal of the right field fence wall on the Philadelphia grounds.

Next season the double umpire system will be adopted and a foul tip caught by the catcher, while close up under the bat, will count as a strike.

Henry Boyle is now pitching the game of his life for the Indianapolis. Has the classification anything to do with it?

Hamilton is out with the statement that the team in that City next season will not be a tail-ender.

Manager Wright has met with unusual success in substituting pitchers during a game.

Cleveland lost 21 games by one run. They might as well have lost them by a mile.

Philace Viau, a brother of Leon, the Reds' pitcher, has been signed by St. Paul.

The reports concerning Horace Phillips' condition are conflicting.

A female ball club from Chicago has reached Buffalo.

SEARLE DEFEATS O'CONNOR.

The race on the Thames, England, for £1,000 and the Championship of the World, over a course four miles and three furlongs long, between William O'Connor, champion of the United States and Canada, and Henry E. Searle, the Australian, was rowed to-day and was won by Searle. At Hammersmith Bridge, one mile and three-quarters from the start, Searle led by two lengths. He won by six lengths. Odds of five to four were given on O'Connor. Searle won the toss for position and chose the Surrey side of the River. O'Connor had the best of the start and led by half a length to the boat-house. Searles' time was 22:42.

ATHLETES.

The regatta held by the New-York Athletic Association on the Hudson at River Newburgh on Saturday was successfully carried out. About 5,000 people witnessed the sport. Joseph and James Donoghue were the victors in the single scull race, taking first and second prize respectively. They also gained second place in the double scull race, in which Elmer Simpson and John Pollock were first.

God-fearing people frown on Sunday ball-playing, but it will be interesting for enthusiastic admirers of the game to know that it took the Athletics 13 innings yesterday to beat the tail-enders of the American Association, the Louisvilles.

LAWN TENNIS.

A finely contested lawn tennis tournament was played on the grounds of the Short Hills Lawn Tennis Club the past week. It was for ladies' and gentlemen's doubles and the prizes for both firsts and seconds were valuable silver souvenirs. In the preliminary round Miss Sand and Mr. Gardner beat Miss Stabb and Mr. Lovell, 6—5, 6—4. Miss Lovell and Mr. Stabb beat Miss Pitcher and Mr. Kobb, 6—5, 5—6, 11—9. AN ULSTER COUNTY BEAR STORY.

How Peter B. Markle, of Samsonville, Laid Brum Low Near Ellenville.

Peter B. Markle, of Samsonville, who is an army veteran and has during his life killed and captured more than 20 bears, added another to the list, the other day, while journeying from his home among the Catskills to Ellenville. He brought with him in his wagon his little daughter and an old breech-loading rifle, which he had captured from the Confederates during the war. He was also accompanied by his dog, which is a cross between a mastiff and a deer hound. While crossing the "Mc's Deaf" Mountain, not far from Brownsville, the dog was heard barking in that manner which sounds so pleasant to the ear of the sportsman and hunter. Markle took his old rifle from the wagon, and carefully examining it to see that it was "all right," stole into the thick woods leaving the little girl in the vehicle. He was soon recalled by the cries of the little girl, "Papa, papa, here's a bear." Hastening back he saw a large bear in in a tree not far from the wagon. Markle took careful aim, and Bruin dropped from the tree, when it was tackled by the dog, and a lively battle ensued. As Markle's gun was a breech-loader, he was able to give the dog efficient assistance, and soon a bullet found a vital part. The carcass of the bear weighed 260 pounds.

The Amusement Record.

"Bunch of Keys" will be on the boards at Liscomb's on September 12. This has been printed about the play:

Hoyt's "Bunch of Keys" will be the play. * * The company is decidedly clever, and though the piece is a risky there seems to exist an impression in the mind of each of the company that the success of the play depends upon the work that each individual can accomplish. An excellent thing about this company is they act with a vim, and there is no time throughout the three acts when the fun is allowed to relax.

The Down

EVANGELICAL ALLIANCE.

TWO LARGELY-ATTENDED MEETINGS HELD HERE LAST EVENING.

How the Work of Inducing People to Attend Church, Gathering Children Into the Various Sunday Schools, and the Suppression of Vice is Being Prosecuted, Etc.

Two largely-attended meetings in the interest of the Local Branch of the Evangelical Alliance were held—one Uptown and the other Downtown—last evening. The proceedings follow:

AT ST. JAMES CHURCH.

The meeting was presided over by Professor F. J. Cheney. The Rev. Dr. Howard Crosby, of New-York City, the Rev. R. A. Vose, of the Albany-Avenue Baptist Church, and the Rev. J. F. Williamson, of the Elmendorf-Street Presbyterian Church, participated in the exercises.

After singing, prayer and reading of Scripture Mr. Cheney said:

We are met here to-night in the interest of an organization which is evidently getting a strong hold on the hearts of the citizens of Kingston. The branch Evangelical Alliance has been in existence as an organization a little more than a year, and while, during that time all has not been effected that those who are interested in the success of the organization had hoped for, yet the work that has been done and the information that has been gathered furnish facts for our encouragement and reasons for the continuance of work.

Mr. Cheney then read the report of the retiring Secretary, William Smith, and said:

Such a report as that of even the work that has been done during the past year is a sufficient apology for the existence of the organization. * * * Certainly the purpose of the organization should interest every Christian. It is the purpose of the Alliance during the coming winter to resume the work with greater vigor, and to this end the earnest sympathy and the active co operation of every one is earnestly asked.

Mr. Cheney then introduced Dr. Howard Crosby, of New-York, City, who said:

Dear Christian Friends: It has been cast up as a reproach against our profession of Christianity that it is divided in 100 different sects. I must confess that I used to feel that that reproach was a strong one, and I was of the opinion that our denominations were a mistake, but I have learned differently in 40 years and changed my views, and I have come to the conclusion that the Lord of the Church knew a great deal better than the rest of us as to what was best for his Holy Gospel and for the conversion of sinners. * * * I can find nothing whatever in the New Testament that will support the notion of one great organized church. * * * We find in the New Testament the idea of churches standing pretty solidly by themselves in the love of Christ and under the guidance of the Holy Spirit. * * * I think there were as many denominations in the New Testament times as there were churches. * * * So I find when we leave the New Testament and come down to the history of the Church, as it is called, we find that just as the Church grew in size carnal desires for superiority appeared, and there were contests for high places, and when the Empire became Christian, so-called, under Constantine, who was nineteentus Pagan and one-tenth Christian—then all these carnal desires of the Christian men in the Church got an impetus from the civil power, and Constantine erected an oligarchy in the Church, and Church and State became united, but so much like one another that you could hardly tell one from the other. Then there was unity of the Church, which made rapid descent to the devil for centuries. * * * There are two ways of having a united Church. * * * We are so constituted in our human nature that unless we are exceedingly careful in our Christian life we shall let the external take the place of the internal. We have to be constantly guarded against the power of that which addresses itself to the eye in order that we may be faithful to that which addresses itself to the heart. This great unity church so magnificent to the outward eye under Constantine, became simply a political institution with the piety knocked out of it. Pious people existed, but they were found in the corners. * * * If we had a united organized Church to-day it would be the same thing. * * * According to my view of the Church of Jesus Christ, each one of us is free to think as he pleases—I mean as he pleases from his convictions, his deep sense of what God has said in His word. We ought to keep that freedom, but because we differ in views are we to separate in Chistian love? By no means. The moment we allow such a separation we are guilty of human jealousy and enmity that should not exist under denominations. * * * Holding fast to our rights it is to unite in the grand work of converting souls. This Alliance is based upon these principles. It is a standing protest against denominational jealousies. Thank God, there has been a marvelous improvement in my own short life-time. I recollect 40 or 50 years ago, when there was very little intercourse between denominations—when even in my own denomination, where there was a split between the Old and New School—they had nothing whatever to do with one another; and an Old School person would hardly sit at the same dinner table with the New School man. But all those things have passed away. The growth of Christian love among evangelical Christians has been surprising throughout our whole land. There is hardly anything like denominational jealousy existing. The Evangelical Alliance has a great deal to do with it—bringing us together, seeing eye to eye, and working hand to hand. If this Alliance existed for no other purpose than making denominations thoroughly harmonious and fraternal it would be worth infinitely more labor and care than it demands now. But it was instituted for other objects. What is its history? It was started about 40 years ago in Great Britain. * * * It was started for the purpose of making a grand protest against the abominable persecution which was being then exhibited by some of the States of Europe. * * * It had great success with the Emperors of Russia and Austria, France, King of Holland and other potentates of Europe and in relieving the oppressed churches in Bohemia, Moravia, Little Russia and Northern Russia. About 30 years ago the Alliance in America was formed as a branch or sister of the one in Great Britain. I had personal part in the work of this organization. Then it was just that same idea of protesting against any form of religious persecution; or, as we added here in this country, an attempt on the part of any ecclesiastical power to lord it over the American people. The Alliance in this country did its work entirely on that line until very lately. When, for example, the Jesuitical law was urged in our State Legislature for 10 winters, called by a strange misnomer "Freedom of Worship bill," which was nothing else but a bill to allow a particular denomination of Christians to take charge of all our penal institutions in the State—it was then that the Evangelical Alliance sent its delegation to Albany year after year—in which delegation I have myself taken part—and laid before the Legislature and the Governor the principles that were at work through this iniquitous proceeding. * * * The Alliance has thwarted it for the last 10 or a dozen years. It was most justly a patriotic American institution. But later on something was added, and well added. Since Drs. Strong and Russell have been engaged in the active departments in this country city mission work has been added, giving us when we are banded together in Christ without distinction of denomination united work in which our union may be all the more effectual. It is proper it should come directly under the ægis of the Evangelical Alliance. It does require caution, which is nothing more than common sense. We are to respect the opinions of all who are members. We are not foolishly to pursue our differentiating elements of Christianity when we are united with those who are not agreed with us on those particular points. We are to keep those behind for our own denominational work. We are one even as the Father in Christ is one. And nothing will do the work better than embracing the whole community, not only those of other religions, but those of no religion—and you have those in Kingston as the report shows—showing them all that in Jesus Christ you are one, no matter what your denominational name is. That is a grand thing to do. The Alliance forms for you a field for work. It gives every Christian man or woman something to do directly for Jesus. It opens his own neighborhood to his work and to his sympathy. These I think are the great points which you ought to consider and which ought to make every one of you a member of this Alliance. The protest against any ecclesiastical denomination in our country; solid, stern, unwielding protest, a protest that will have your patriotism and your piety behind it; a protest that means it shall be accomplished. That is one thing and another thing the spiritual benefit for your own City and with it your own personal growth in grace and likeness in the Lord Jesus Christ. May the Lord prosper your Alliance. May every evangelical Christian in Kingston enter into union with it. If you do, you will see Kingston ere long like a Garden of the Lord.

AT THE WURTS-STREET CHURCH.

The meeting held in the Wurts-Street Presbyterian Church was presided over by the Rev. William A. Shaw, of the Reformed Church of the Comforter. On the platform were the Rev. O. Haviland, Pastor of St. James M. E. Church, and the Rev. J. Demarest, of the Reformed Church of New-Brunswick, N. J. The exercises were opened by singing, and by prayer by the Rev. Mr. Demarest. The Rev. Mr. Shaw, after explaining the cause of the absence of the Rev. Frank A. Russell, General Secretary of the Evangelical Alliance, who was expected to make an address, read the tabulated report of the work of the Alliance, prepared by the Secretary, William Smith, ending with the month of May, 1888, as follows:

Number of families visited	4,035
" " individuals visited, not members of families	886
Number of religious meetings held with families	21
Number of families reported for special visitation by pastors or supervisors	94
Number of confirmed invalids reported to pastors or supervisors	51
Number of families moved into the City visited and invited to Sunday School and church	67
Number of families found without the Bible and supplied	11
Number of families and individuals reported not attending any church	315
Number of individuals reported to the church of their choice	282
Number of children, five to 18 years of age, found not attending any Sunday School	153
Number of supervisors who have served	31
Number of visitors who have been engaged in visitation	205

The 35 districts into which the City is divided contain 330 fields. Districts Nos. 5, 16, 31 and 34, comprising 32 fields, remain wholly unCanvassed; 18 districts comprising 170 fields have been entirely canvassed and reported, and 13 districts comprising 123 fields partially canvassed. There are 92 fields containing nearly 100 families that have not been reached by the Alliance.

Eight churches, with the Pastors, have shown an active sympathy and co-operation in the work of the Alliance. There have been held eight regular monthly meetings and 11 special meetings during the year.

The plan and purpose of the work is being better understood, which will insure better service and greater results in the future.

House to house visitation has quickened the spiritual life of the visitors who report this work a means of grace to themselves.

Churches and Christian people have been brought nearer each other in Christian fellowship and in unity of Christian effort to reach the neglected masses and minister to their spiritual needs.

The needy and the sick have been relieved and comforted.

Neglected children have been gathered into the Sunday School and brought under the influence of Bible teaching.

Families and individuals, hitherto unknown to pastors, have been visited and encouraged to attend religious services

The meetings have been harmonious and the work prosecuted in an undenominational and unselfish spirit. The underlying motive has been moral reformation and spiritual good to the neglected and indifferent and the suppressing of vice, immorality and wickedness within the bounds of the influence of the Alliance.

Mr. Shaw told of the advantages which would be derived from the use of the new blanks with which the Supervisors and Visitors had been provided, saying that it was expected by October 1 a canvass of the entire City would be completed and the statistics fully tabulated. He made an earnest plea to the Supervisors and Visitors to work faithfully for the great object of the Alliance, which were the suppression of vice, bringing the adult people into the churches and the children into the Sunday Schools. He also alluded to the attempt of the Alliance to lessen the number of saloons in this City by conferring with the members of the Board of Excise and the Alms Commissioners, and the poor success that had attended their efforts thus far.

The Rev. Mr. Demarest said that the work of the Evangelical Alliance was one of the most difficult problems of the age, but it could best be solved by such figures as had just been read. The laity had for too long a time held themselves aloof from the real work of the churches, which was the saving of souls. There should be greater activity among the rank and file. They might meet with discouragement and failure in endeavoring to reach the hearts of those outside the church, but they would find the work a blessing to their own souls. The work accomplished by the Saviour Himself up to the time of His death and ascension was small, but He delegated the work to His 12 Apostles and said to them: "Go and preach the Gospel to every creature." Workers are to prone to make the mistake that it is human and not Divine work they are attempting to do.

The Rev. O. Haviland said in part: "I regret that we are unable to hear either Dr. Strong or Dr. Russell speak this evening from the rich fullness of their information upon the work of the Alliance. One of my good brethren told me the one bright spot in this disappointment was that I would speak. This may look bright to him, but I must confess it looks cloudy to me. However I want to say at the outset that this combination of Christian effort in the work of the Alliance is one of the marvels of the age and the greatest in the history of the church of Christ. Hitherto the work of the denominational churches has been to build up walls in which to keep their own sheep; now the great effort is to broaden the walls so as to gather the multitude into the common fold. The words 'no man hath cared for my soul,' will no longer be heard. Hitherto we have been too busy cultivating our own denominational vineyards to look after the unchurched people and outside masses." In closing his eloquent address, Mr. Haviland made allusion to the work of the Young Men's Christian Association and to the work accomplished by the Alliance in other portions of the State and Nation, and exhorted his hearers that instead of asking the question "am I my brother's keeper?" they should be faithful to the cause of Christ and His kingdom that they may hear the words: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

During the meeting a collection was taken up for the cause of the Alliance.

The New-York Central Schutzen Corps, with the wives and families of the members, to the number of nearly 500, arrived at the Hotel Kaaterskill on an annual excursion at about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Captain Adolph Kruger, of the Central Corps, has as guests Captain Vehrenbergh, of the New-York Schutzen Corps, and Captain Meier, of the New-York City Schutzen Corps. Last evening the Schutzen Corps Band gave a concert on the broad piazza. To-day the jolly party of German-American marksmen tried their hands at target shooting and other games.

THIS CITY'S NEWS AND CHAT.

MEN, MATTERS AND PROJECTS BRIEFLY PARAGRAPHED.

A Horse Thief's Confession—The Servant Girl Problem—Let the People Obey the Sanitary Laws—Revised Assessment Books—Alms Commissioners to Meet To-night.

On Sunday a young man hired a horse of an Uptown liveryman. Late in the afternoon the liveryman heard that his horse was being led through Higginsville and was bleeding at the mouth. On arriving there he found he had been correctly informed. There were two young men leading the horse, one of whom said they had found the horse lying in the road and had bled it and that they were looking for the owner. The men refused to give their names, and while the liveryman was looking for an officer to arrest them they made their escape.

It is stated that the "following information may be useful to some at this season of the year, if not to many: Spinach has a direct effect upon the kidneys. The common dandelion, used as greens, is excellent for the same trouble. Asparagus purges the blood. Celery acts admirably upon the nervous system, and is a cure for rheumatism and neuralgia. Tomatoes act upon the liver. Beets and turnips are excellent appetizers. Lettuce and cucumbers are cooling in their effects upon the system. Onions, garlic leeks, olives and shalots, all of which are similar, possess medicinal virtues of a marked character, stimulating the circulatory system and consequent increase of the saliva and the gastric juice promoting digestion. Red onions are an excellent diruetic, and the white ones are recommended to be eaten raw as a remedy for insomnia. They are a tonic and nutritious. A soup made from onions is regarded by the French as an excellent restorative in debility of the digestive organs."

It is stated that the "newest occupation for women is said to be that of superintending weddings. The superintendent, who is usually a youngish woman, is installed in the house of the bride-to-be some little time before the ceremony. She selects the trousseau, advises what is the latest and finest in underwear, buys the material and designs, and makes, or superintends the making of the gowns, knows all about stockings, boots, gloves, laces, handkerchiefs; sees to the millinery and jackets and wraps, tells the bride's mother and sisters what to wear, dictates to the bridesmaids, thinks of everything and lets the engaged couple enjoy themselves with unanxious minds." Rats!

William Galoway, a young man arrested at Newburgh and now in the Ulster County Jail charged with horse-stealing in the town of Marlborough, has made a confession implicating in the transaction a young man named John Raymond. The latter was arrested in Newburgh on Saturday, and after an examination before a Justice of the Peace at Marlborough was lodged in jail here. He was taken to Marlborough for another hearing to-day.

The Leader, the esteemed Uptown morning contemporary of THE FREEMAN, cries "hard times" in its editorial columns and says business is booming on its local page. For instance, in its Saturday issue, it prints this: "The Hudson River Cement Company and the Lawence Cement Company are shipping barrels of cement as fast as it is ground. Business in this line is picking up, and many orders are received by the companies."

A Downtown four-year-old boy whenever he asks his mother for a slice of bread does it in this way: "Please mama, thank you mama, give me a piece of bread and butter mama?" On the first occasion his mother told him that he should ask for the bread first, and when it was given to him to then return thanks. The little fellow replied that he might as well do it all at once and save talk.

The will of Samuel Weiner, of this City, was proved and admitted to probate to-day in the Ulster Surrogate's Court. The will was made in 1883 and was witnessed by E. S. Wood and Josiah DuBois. The estate, real and personal, is given to the sons, Henry C., Isaac N., Richard and daughter Ida. The sons are appointed Executors.

The following appeared in Recorder's Court proceedings on Saturday:

For disorderly conduct a young man named Michael Muldoon was fined $5. Muldoon took a solemn pledge that he would not drink for one year.

For "Michael" in the foregoing read "Martin." Michael Muldoon is an industrious, hard-working, honest man.

The conjunction of Mars and Saturn will take place on the morning of September 20, at about 5 o'clock, when the planets will be nearly two hours high in the sky and nearly one hour before sunrise. Probably in this locality the two planets will appear as one, without the aid of a good opera or field glass.

This forenoon a singular accident occurred to one of A. S. Staples' horses. It was standing on the platform of a large scale when one of the boards broke and the horse's hind legs went down. It took over 10 minutes to release the animal. Strange to say it was not injured.

Early this morning a man whose face was covered with blood and whose body was enveloped in an old bed-quilt, was seen in a wagon coming from the direction of Ponckhockie. It is said the man had been stabbed in a fight.

There are many disagreeable odors here that should be abated. There is much laxity in certain localities in keeping premises and streets in front of them free from decaying vegetable matter and garbage of various kinds.

"The Devil had a good show Downtown last night, as there was services in but one church," said a citizen to-day. "Yes, and nearly all the saloons were opened to help his Satanic Majesty along."

J. M. Mayer and Matthew Winchell, members of the Excise Board, met at the City Hall on Saturday night. Owing to the absence of John Groves, the other member, no business was transacted.

The Japanese wedding—referred to in "recreation notes" elsewhere—on Wednesday evening, in the Wurts-Street M. E. Church, promises to be largely attended.

A meeting of the members of the Board of Alms Commissioners will be held in the City Hall this evening. Counsel Brandow will be called upon to explain charges.

For Frederick Davis, in a recent wedding notice, read John S. Davis. It is stated to THE FREEMAN that happy pair then wedded have gone on an extended jaunt.

The Commissioners appointed to assess damages for the widening of Linderman-avenue held a meeting to-day.

As soon as the Catskill Mountain season closes the servant girl problem will be solved hereabout.

The revised assessment books will be open for inspection at the City Hall on September 17.

The work of grading the south end of Chestnut-street has been begun.

EVANGELICAL ALLIANCE.

TWO LARGELY-ATTENDED MEETINGS HELD HERE LAST EVENING.

How the Work of Inducing People to Attend Church, Gathering Children Into the Various Sunday Schools, and the Suppression of Vice is Being Prosecuted, Etc.

Two largely-attended meetings in the interest of the Local Branch of the Evangelical Alliance were held—one Uptown and the other Downtown—last evening. The proceedings follow:

AT ST. JAMES CHURCH.

The meeting was presided over by Professor F. J. Cheney. The Rev. Dr. Howard Crosby, of New-York City, the Rev. R. A. Vose, of the Albany-Avenue Baptist Church, and the Rev. J. F. Williamson, of the Elmendorf-Street Presbyterian Church, participated in the exercises.

After singing, prayer and reading of Scripture Mr. Cheney said:

We are met here to-night in the interest of an organization which is evidently getting a strong hold on the hearts of the citizens of Kingston. The branch Evangelical Alliance has been in existence as an organization a little more than a year, and while, during that time all has not been effected that those who are interested in the success of the organization had hoped for, yet the work that has been done and the information that has been gathered furnish facts for our encouragement and reasons for the continuance of work.

Mr. Cheney then read the report of the retiring Secretary, William Smith, and said:

Such a report as that of even the work that has been done during the past year is a sufficient apology for the existence of the organization. * * * Certainly the purpose of the organization should interest every Christian. It is the purpose of the Alliance during the coming winter to resume the work with greater vigor, and to this end the earnest sympathy and the active co operation of every one is earnestly asked.

Mr. Cheney then introduced Dr. Howard Crosby, of New-York City, who said:

Dear Christian Friends: It has been cast up as a reproach against our profession of Christianity that it is divided in 100 different sects. I must confess that I used to feel that that reproach was a strong one, and I was of the opinion that our denominations were a mistake, but I have learned differently in 40 years and changed my views, and I have come to the conclusion that the Lord of the Church knew a great deal better than the rest of us as to what was best for his Holy Gospel and for the conversion of sinners. * * * I can find nothing whatever in the New Testament that will support the notion of one great organized church. * * * We find in the New Testament the idea of churches standing pretty solidly by themselves in the love of Christ and under the guidance of the Holy Spirit. * * * I think there were as many denominations in the New Testament times as there were churches. * * * So I find when we leave the New Testament and come down to the history of the Church, as it is called, we find that just as the Church grew in size carnal desires for superiority appeared, and there were contests for high places, and when the Empire became Christian, so-called, under Constantine, who was nineteentus Pagat and one-tenth Christian—then all these carnal desires of the Christian men in the Church got an impetus from the civil power, and Constantine erected an oligarchy in the Church, and Church and State became united, but so much like one another that you could hardly tell one from the other. Then there was unity of the Church, which made rapid descent to the devil for centuries. * * There are two ways of having a united Church. * * * We are so constituted in our human nature that unless we are exceedingly careful in our Christian life we shall let the external take the place of the internal. We have to be constantly guarded against the power of that which addresses itself to the eye in order that we may be faithful to that which addresses itself to the heart. This great unity church so magnificent to the outward eye under Constantine, became simply a political institution with the piety knocked out of it. Pious people existed, but they were found in the corners. * * * If we had a united organized Church to-day it would be the same thing. * * * According to my view of the Church of Jesus Christ, each one of us is free to think as he pleases—I mean as he pleases from his convictions, his deep sense of what God has said in His word. We ought to keep that freedom, but because we differ in views are we to separate in Christian love? By no means. The moment we allow such a separation we are guilty of human jealousy and enmity that should not exist under denominations. * * * Holding fast to our rights it is to unite in the grand work of converting souls. This Alliance is based upon these principles. It is a standing protest against denominational jealousies. Thank God, there has been a marvelous improvement in my own short life-time. I recollect 40 or 50 years ago, when there was very little intercourse between denominations—when even in my own denomination, where there was a split between the Old and New School—they had nothing whatever to do with one another; and an Old School person would hardly sit at the same dinner table with the New School man. But all those things have passed away. The growth of Christian love among evangelical Christians has been surprising throughout our whole land. There is hardly anything like denominational jealousy existing. The Evangelical Alliance has a great deal to do with it—bringing us together, seeing eye to eye, and working hand to hand. If this Alliance existed for no other purpose than making denominations thoroughly harmonious and fraternal it would be worth infinitely more labor and care than it demands now. But it was instituted for other objects. What is its history? It was started about 40 years ago in Great Britain. * * * It was started for the purpose of making a grand protest against the abominable persecution which was being then exhibited by some of the States of Europe. * * * It had great success with the Emperors of Russia and Austria, France, King of Holland and other potentates of Europe and in relieving the oppressed churches in Bohemia, Moravia, Little Russia and Northern Russia. About 30 years ago the Alliance in America was formed as a branch or sister of the one in Great Britain. I had personal part in the work of this organization. Then it was just that same idea of protesting against any form of religious persecution; or, as we added here in this country, an attempt on the part of any ecclesiastical power to lord it over the American people. The Alliance in this country did its work entirely on that line until very lately. When, for example, the Jesuitical law was urged in our State Legislature for 10 winters, called by a strange misnomer "Freedom of Worship bill," which was nothing else but a bil to allow a particular denomination of Christians to take charge of all our penal institutions in the State—it was then that the Evangelical Alliance sent its delegation to Albany year after year—in which delegation I have myself taken part—and laid before the Legislature and the Governor the principles that were at work through this iniquitous proceeding. * * * The Alliance has thwarted it for the last 10 or a dozen years. It was most justly a patriotic American institution. But later on something was added, and well added. Since Drs. Strong and Russell have been engaged in the active departments in this country city mission work has been added, giving us when we are banded together in Christ without distinction of denomination united work in which our union may be all the more effectual. It is proper it should come directly under the ægis of the Evangelical Alliance. It does require caution, which is nothing more than common sense. We are to respect the opinions of all who are members. We are not foolishly to pursue our differ-ntiating elements of Christianity when we are united with those who are not agreed with us on those particular points. We are to keep those behind for our own denominational work. We are one even as the Father in Christ is one. And nothing will do the work better than embracing the whole community, not only those of other religions, but those of no religion—and you have those in Kingston as the report shows—showing them all that in Jesus Christ you are one, no matter what your denominational name is. That is a grand thing to do. The Alliance forms for you a field for work. It gives every Christian man or woman something to do directly for Jesus. It opens his own neighborhood to his work and to his sympathy. These I think are the great points which you ought to consider and which ought to make every one of you a member of this Alliance. The protest against any ecclesiastical denomination in our country; solid, stern, unwielding protest, a protest that will have your patriotism and your piety behind it; a protest that means it shall be accomplished. That is one thing and another thing the spiritual benefit for your own City and with it your own personal growth in grace and likeness in the Lord Jesus Christ. May the Lord prosper your Alliance. May every evangelical Christian in Kingston enter into union with it. If you do, you will see Kingston ere long like a Garden of the Lord.

AT THE WURTS-STREET CHURCH.

The meeting held in the Wurts-Street Presbyterian Church was presided over by the Rev. William A. Shaw, of the Reformed Church of the Comforter. On the platform were the Rev. O. Haviland, Pastor of St. James M. E. Church, and the Rev. J. Demarest, of the Reformed Church of New-Brunswick, N. J. The exercises were opened by singing, and by prayer by the Rev. Mr. Demarest. The Rev. Mr. Shaw, after explaining the cause of the absence of the Rev. Frank A. Russell, General Secretary of the Evangelical Alliance, who was expected to make an address, read the tabulated report of the work of the Alliance, prepared by the Secretary, William Smith, ending with the month of May, 1888, as follows:

Number of families visited	4,035
" " individuals visited, not members of families	886
Number of religious meetings held with families	21
Number of families reported for special visitation by pastors or supervisors	94
Number of confirmed invalids reported to pastors or supervisors	51
Number of families moved into the City visited and invited to Sunday School and church	67
Number of families found without the Bible and supplied	11
Number of families and individuals reported not attending any church	315
Number of individuals reported to the church of their choice	282
Number of children, five to 18 years of age, found not attending any Sunday School	153
Number of supervisors who have served	31
Number of visitors who have been engaged in visitation	205

The 35 districts into which the City is divided contain 330 fields. Districts Nos. 5, 16, 31 and 34, comprising 32 fields, remain wholly uncanvassed; 18 districts comprising 170 fields have been entirely canvassed and reported, and 13 districts comprising 123 fields partially canvassed. There are 92 fields containing nearly 100 families that have not been reached by the Alliance.

Eight churches, with the Pastors, have shown an active sympathy and co-operation in the work of the Alliance. There have been held eight regular monthly meetings and 11 special meetings during the year.

The plan and purpose of the work is being better understood, which will insure better service and greater results in the future.

House to house visitation has quickened the spiritual life of the visitors who report this work a means of grace to themselves.

Churches and Christian people have been brought nearer each other in Christian fellowship and in unity of Christian effort to reach the neglected masses and minister to their spiritual needs.

The needy and the sick have been relieved and comforted.

Neglected children have been gathered into the Sunday School and brought under the influence of Bible teaching.

Families and individuals, hitherto unknown to pastors, have been visited and encouraged to attend religious services.

The meetings have been harmonious and the work prosecuted in an undenominational and unselfish spirit. The underlying motive has been moral reformation and spiritual good to the neglected and indifferent and the suppressing of vice, immorality and wickedness within the bounds of the influence of the Alliance.

Mr. Shaw told of the advantages which would be derived from the use of the new blanks with which the Supervisors and Visitors had been provided, saying that it was expected by October 1 a canvass of the entire City would be completed and the statistics fully tabulated. He made an earnest plea to the Supervisors and Visitors to work faithfully for the great object of the Alliance, which were the suppression of vice, bringing the adult people into the churches and the children into the Sunday Schools. He also alluded to the attempt of the Alliance to lessen the number of saloons in this City by conferring with the members of the Board of Excise and the Alms Commissioners, and the poor success that had attended their efforts thus far.

The Rev. Mr. Demarest said that the work of the Evangelical Alliance was one of the most difficult problems of the age, but it could best be solved by such figures as had just been read. The laity had for too long a time held themselves aloof from the real work of the churches, which was the saving of souls. There should be greater activity among the rank and file. They might meet with discouragement and failure in endeavoring to reach the hearts of those outside the church, but they would find the work a blessing to their own souls. The work accomplished by the Saviour Himself up to the time of His death and ascension was small, but He delegated the work to His 12 Apostles and said to them: "Go and preach the Gospel to every creature." Workers are to prone to make the mistake that it is human and not Divine work they are attempting to do.

The Rev. O. Haviland said in part: "I regret that we are unable to hear either Dr. Strong or Dr. Russell speak this evening from the rich fullness of their information upon the work of the Alliance. One of my good brethren told me the one bright spot in this disappointment was that I would speak. This may look bright to him, but I must confess it looks cloudy to me. However I want to say at the outset that this combination of Christian effort in the work of the Alliance is one of the marvels of the age and the greatest in the history of the church of Christ. Hitherto the work of the denominational churches has been to build up walls in which to keep their own sheep; now the great effort is to broaden the walls so as to gather the multitude into the common fold. The words 'no man hath cared for my soul,' will no longer be heard. Hitherto we have been too busy cultivating our own denominational vineyards to look after the unchurched people and outside masses." In closing his eloquent address, Mr. Haviland made allusion to the work of the Young Men's Christian Association and to the work accomplished by the Alliance in other portions of the State and Nation, and exhorted his hearers that instead of asking the question "am I my brother's keeper?" they should be faithful to the cause of Christ and His kingdom that they may hear the words: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

During the meeting a collection was taken up for the cause of the Alliance.

A Horse Thief's Confession—The Servant Girl Problem—Let the People Obey the Sanitary Laws—Revised Assessment Books—Alms Commissioners to Meet To-night.

On Sunday a young man hired a horse of an Uptown liveryman. Late in the afternoon the liveryman heard that his horse was being led through Higginsville and was bleeding at the mouth. On arriving there he found he had been correctly informed. There were two young men leading the horse, one of whom said they had found the horse lying in the road and had bled it and that they were looking for the owner. The men refused to give their names, and while the liveryman was looking for an officer to arrest them they made their escape.

It is stated that the "following information may be useful to some at this season of the year, if not to many: Spinach has a direct effect upon the kidneys. The common dandelion, used as greens, is excellent for the same trouble. Asparagus purges the blood. Celery acts admirably upon the nervous system, and is a cure for rheumatism and neuralgia. Tomatoes act upon the liver. Beets and turnips are excellent appetizers. Lettuce and cucumbers are cooling in their effects upon the system. Onions, garlic leeks, olives and shalots, all of which are similar, possess medicinal virtues of a marked character, stimulating the circulatory system and consequent increase of the saliva and the gastric juice promoting digestion. Red onions are an excellent diruetic, and the white ones are recommended to be eaten raw as a remedy for insomnia. They are a tonic and nutritious. A soup made from onions is regarded by the French as an excellent restorative in debility of the digestive organs."

It is stated that the "newest occupation for women is said to be that of superintending weddings. The superintendent, who is usually a youngish woman, is installed in the house of the bride-to-be some little time before the ceremony. She selects the trousseau, advises what is the latest and finest in underwear, buys the material and designs, and makes, or superintends the making of the gowns, knows all about stockings, boots, gloves, laces, handkerchiefs; sees to the millinery and jackets and wraps, tells the bride's mother and sisters what to wear, dictates to the bridesmaids, thinks of everything and lets the engaged couple enjoy themselves with unanxious minds." Rats!

William Galoway, a young man arrested at Newburgh and now in the Ulster County Jail charged with horse-stealing in the town of Marlborough, has made a confession implicating in the transaction a young man named John Raymond. The latter was arrested in Newburgh on Saturday, and after an examination before a Justice of the Peace at Marlborough was lodged in jail here. He was taken to Marlborough for another hearing to-day.

The Leader, the esteemed Uptown morning contemporary of THE FREEMAN, cries "hard times" in its editorial columns and says business is booming on its local page. For instance, in its Saturday issue, it prints this: "The Hudson River Cement Company and the Lawence Cement Company are shipping barrels of cement as fast as it is ground. Business in this line is picking up, and many orders are received by the companies."

A Downtown four-year-old boy whenever he asks his mother for a slice of bread does it in this way: "Please mama, thank you mama, give me a piece of bread and butter mama?" On the first occasion his mother told him that he should ask for the bread first, and when it was given to him to then return thanks. The little fellow replied that he might as well do it all at once and save talk.

The will of Samuel Weiner, of this City, was proved and admitted to probate to-day in the Ulster Surrogate's Court. The will was made in 1883 and was witnessed by E. S. Wood and Josiah DuBois. For disorderly conduct a young man named Michael Muldoon was fined $5. Muldoon took a solemn pledge that he would not drink for one year.

This forenoon a singular accident occurred to one of A. S. Staples' horses. It was standing on the platform of a large scale when one of the boards broke and the horse's hind legs went down. It took over 10 minutes to release the animal. Strange to say it was not injured.

Early this morning a man whose face was covered with blood and whose body was enveloped in an old bed-quilt, was seen in a wagon coming from the direction of Ponckhockie. It is said the man had been stabbed in a fight.

EVANGELICAL ALLIANCE.

TWO LARGELY-ATTENDED MEETINGS HELD HERE LAST EVENING.

How the Work of Inducing People to Attend Church, Gathering Children Into the Various Sunday Schools, and the Suppression of Vice is Being Prosecuted, Etc.

Two largely-attended meetings in the interest of the Local Branch of the Evangelical Alliance were held—one Uptown and the other Downtown—last evening. The proceedings follow:

AT ST. JAMES CHURCH.

The meeting was presided over by Professor F. J. Cheney. The Rev. Dr. Howard Crosby, of New-York City, the Rev. R. A. Vose, of the Albany-Avenue Baptist Church, and the Rev. J. F. Williamson, of the Elmendorf-Street Presbyterian Church, participated in the exercises.

After singing, prayer and reading of Scripture Mr. Cheney said:

We are met here to-night in the interest of an organization which is evidently getting a strong hold on the hearts of the citizens of Kingston. The branch Evangelical Alliance has been in existence as an organization a little more than a year, and while, during that time all has not been effected that those who are interested in the success of the organization had hoped for, yet the work that has been done and the information that has been gathered furnish facts for our encouragement and reasons for the continuance of work.

Mr. Cheney then read the report of the retiring Secretary, William Smith, and said:

Such a report as that of even the work that has been done during the past year is a sufficient apology for the existence of the organization. * * * Certainly the purpose of the organization should interest every Christian. It is the purpose of the Alliance during the coming winter to resume the work with greater vigor, and to this end the earnest sympathy and the active co operation of every one is earnestly asked.

Mr. Cheney then introduced Dr. Howard Crosby, of New-York, City, who said:

Dear Christian Friends: It has been cast up as a reproach against our profession of Christianity that it is divided in 100 different sects. I must confess that I used to feel that that reproach was a strong one, and I was of the opinion that our denominations were a mistake, but I have learned differently in 40 years and changed my views, and I have come to the conclusion that the Lord of the Church knew a great deal better than the rest of us as to what was best for his Holy Gospel and for the conversion of sinners. * * * I can find nothing whatever in the New Testament that will support the notion of one great organized church. * * * We find in the New Testament the idea of churches standing pretty solidly by themselves in the love of Christ and under the guidance of the Holy Spirit. * * I think there were as many denominations in the New Testament times as there were churches. * * * So I find when we leave the New Testament and come down to the history of the Church, as it is called, we find that just as the Church grew in size carnal desires for superiority appeared, and there were contests for high places, and when the Empire became Christian, so-called, under Constantine, who was nine-tentns Pagan and one-tenth Christian—then all these carnal desires of the Christian men in the Church got an impetus from the civil power, and Constantine erected an oligarchy in the Church, and Church and State became united, but so much like one another that you could hardly tell one from the other. Then there was unity of the Church, which made rapid descent to the devil for centuries. * * * There are two ways of having a united Church. * * * We are so constituted in our human nature that unless we are exceedingly careful in our Christian life we shall let the external take the place of the internal. We have to be constantly guarded against the power of that which addresses itself to the eye in order that we may be faithful to that which addresses itself to the heart. This great unity church so magnificent to the outward eye under Constantine, became simply a political institution with the piety knocked out of it. Pious people existed, but they were found in the corners. * * * If we had a united organized Church to-day it would be the same thing. * * * According to my view of the Church of Jesus Christ, each one of us is free to think as he pleases—I mean as he pleases from his convictions, his deep sense of what God has said in His word. We ought to keep that freedom, but because we differ in views are we to separate in Chistian love? By no means. The moment we allow such a separation we are guilty of human jealousy and enmity that should not exist under denominations. * * * Holding fast to our rights it is to unite in the grand work of converting souls. This Alliance is based upon these principles. It is a standing protest against denominational jealousies. Thank God, there has been a marvelous improvement in my own short life-time. I recollect 40 or 50 years ago, when there was very little intercourse between denominations—when even in my own denomination, where there was a split between the Old and New School—they had nothing whatever to do with one another; and an Old School person would hardly sit at the same dinner table with the New School man. But all those things have passed away. The growth of Christian love among evangelical Christians has been surprising throughout our whole land. There is hardly anything like denominational jealousy existing. The Evangelical Alliance has a great deal to do with it—bringing us together, seeing eye to eye, and working hand to hand. If this Alliance existed for no other purpose than making denominations thoroughly harmonious and fraternal it would be worth infinitely more labor and care than it demands now. But it was instituted for other objects. What is its history? It was started about 40 years ago in Great Britain. * * * It was started for the purpose of making a grand protest against the abominable persecution which was being then exhibited by some of the States of Europe. * * * It had great success with the Emperors of Russia and Austria, France, King of Holland and other potentates of Europe and in relieving the oppressed churches in Bohemia, Moravia, Little Russia and Northern Russia. About 40 years ago the Alliance in America was formed as a branch or sister of the one in Great Britain. I had personal part in the work of this organization. Then it was just that same idea of protesting against any form of religious persecution; or, as we added here in this country, an attempt on the part of any ecclesiastical power to lord it over the American people. The Alliance in this country did its work entirely on that line until very lately. When, for example, the Jesuitical law was urged in our State Legislature for 10 winters, called by a strange misnomer "Freedom of Worship bill," which was nothing else but a bill to allow a particular denomination of Christians to take charge of all our penal institutions in the State—it was then that the Evangelical Alliance sent its delegation to Albany year after year—in which delegation I have myself taken part—and laid before the Legislature and the Governor the principles that were at work through this iniquitous proceeding. * * * The Alliance has thwarted it for the last 10 or a dozen years. It was most justly a patriotic American institution. But later on something was added, and well added. Since Drs. Strong and Russell have been engaged in the active departments in this country city mission work has been added, giving us when we are banded together in Christ without distinction of denomination united work in which our union may be all the more effectual. It is proper it should come directly under the ægis of the Evangelical Alliance. It does require caution, which is nothing more than common sense. We are to respect the opinions of all who are members. We are not foolishly to pursue our differentiating elements of Christianity when we are united with those who are not agreed with us on those particular points. We are to keep those behind for our own denominational work. We are one even as the Father in Christ is one. And nothing will do the work better than embracing the whole community, not only those of other religions, but those of no religion—and you have those in Kingston as the report shows—showing them all that in Jesus Christ you are one, no matter what your denominational name is. That is a grand thing to do. The Alliance forms for you a field for work. It gives every Christian man or woman something to do directly for Jesus. It opens his own neighborhood to his work and to his sympathy. These I think are the great points which you ought to consider and which ought to make every one of you a member of this Alliance. The protest against any ecclesiastical denomination in our country; solid, stern, unwielding protest, a protest that will have your patriotism and your piety behind it; a protest that means it shall be accomplished. That is one thing and another thing the spiritual benefit for your own City and with it your own personal growth in grace and likeness in the Lord Jesus Christ. May the Lord prosper your Alliance. May every evangelical Christian in Kingston enter into union with it. If you do, you will see Kingston ere long like a Garden of the Lord.

AT THE WURTS-STREET CHURCH.

The meeting held in the Wurts-Street Presbyterian Church was presided over by the Rev. William A. Shaw, of the Reformed Church of the Comforter. On the platform were the Rev. O. Haviland, Pastor of St. James M. E. Church, and the Rev. J. Demarest, of the Reformed Church of New-Brunswick, N. J. The exercises were opened by singing, and by prayer by the Rev. Mr. Demarest. The Rev. Mr. Shaw, after explaining the cause of the absence of the Rev. Frank A. Russell, General Secretary of the Evangelical Alliance, who was expected to make an address, read the tabulated report of the work of the Alliance, prepared by the Secretary, William Smith, ending with the month of May, 1888, as follows:

Number of families visited	4,035
" " individuals visited, not members of families	836
Number of religious meetings held with families	21
Number of families reported for special visitation by pastors or supervisors	94
Number of confirmed invalids reported to pastors or supervisors	51
Number of families moved into the City visited and invited to Sunday School and church	67
Number of families found without the Bible and supplied	11
Number of families and individuals reported not attending any church	315
Number of individuals reported to the church of their choice	282
Number of children, five to 18 years of age, found not attending any Sunday School	153
Number of supervisors who have served	31
Number of visitors who have been engaged in visitation	205

The 35 districts into which the City is divided contain 330 fields. Districts Nos. 5, 16, 31 and 34, comprising 32 fields, remain wholly uncanvassed; 18 districts comprising 170 fields have been entirely canvassed and reported, and 13 districts comprising 125 fields partially canvassed. There are 92 fields containing nearly 100 families that have not been reached by the Alliance.

Eight churches, with the Pastors, have shown an active sympathy and co-operation in the work of the Alliance. There have been held eight regular monthly meetings and 11 special meetings during the year.

The plan and purpose of the work is being better understood, which will insure better service and greater results in the future.

House to house visitation has quickened the spiritual life of the visitors who report this work a means of grace to themselves.

Churches and Christian people have been brought nearer each other in Christian fellowship and in unity of Christian effort to reach the neglected masses and minister to their spiritual needs.

The needy and the sick have been relieved and comforted.

Neglected children have been gathered into the Sunday School and brought under the influence of Bible teaching.

Families and individuals, hitherto unknown to pastors, have been visited and encouraged to attend religious services

The meetings have been harmonious and the work prosecuted in an undenominational and unselfish spirit. The underlying motive has been moral reformation and spiritual good to the neglected and indifferent and the suppressing of vice, immorality and wickedness within the bounds of the influence of the Alliance.

Mr. Shaw told of the advantages which would be derived from the use of the new blanks with which the Supervisors and Visitors had been provided, saying that it was expected by October 1 a canvass of the entire City would be completed and the statistics fully tabulated. He made an earnest plea to the Supervisors and Visitors to work faithfully for the great object of the Alliance, which were the suppression of vice, bringing the adult people into the churches and the children into the Sunday Schools. He also alluded to the attempt of the Alliance to lessen the number of saloons in this City by conferring with the members of the Board of Excise and the Alms Commissioners, and the poor success that had attended their efforts thus far.

The Rev. Mr. Demarest said that the work of the Evangelical Alliance was one of the most difficult problems of the age, but it could best be solved by such figures as had just been read. The laity had for too long a time held themselves aloof from the real work of the churches, which was the saving of souls. There should be greater activity among the rank and file. They might meet with discouragement and failure in endeavoring to reach the hearts of those outside the church, but they would find the work a blessing to their own souls. The work accomplished by the Saviour Himself up to the time of His death and ascension was small, but He delegated the work to His 12 Apostles and said to them: "Go and preach the Gospel to every creature." Workers are to prone to make the mistake that it is human and not Divine work they are attempting to do.

The Rev. O. Haviland said in part: "I regret that we are unable to hear either Dr. Strong or Dr. Russell speak this evening from the rich fullness of their information upon the work of the Alliance. One of my good brethren told me the one bright spot in this disappointment was that I would speak. This may look bright to him, but I must confess it looks cloudy to me. However I want to say at the outset that this combination of Christian effort in the work of the Alliance is one of the marvels of the age and the greatest in the history of the church of Christ. Hitherto the work of the denominational churches has been to build up walls in which to keep their own sheep; now the great effort is to broaden the walls so as to gather the multitude into the common fold. The words 'no man hath cared for my soul,' will no longer be heard. Hitherto we have been too busy cultivating our own denominational vineyards to look after the unchurched people and outside masses." In closing his eloquent address, Mr. Haviland made allusion to the work of the Young Men's Christian Association and to the work accomplished by the Alliance in other portions of the State and Nation, and exhorted his hearers that instead of asking the question "am I my brother's keeper?" they should be faithful to the cause of Christ and His kingdom that they may hear the words: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

During the meeting a collection was taken up for the cause of the Alliance.

A Horse Thief's Confession—The Servant Girl Problem—Let the People Obey the Sanitary Laws—Revised Assessment Books—Alms Commissioners to Meet To-night.

On Sunday a young man hired a horse of an Uptown liveryman. Late in the afternoon the liveryman heard that his horse was being led through Higginsville and was bleeding at the mouth. On arriving there he found he had been correctly informed. There were two young men leading the horse, one of whom said they had found the horse lying in the road and had bled it and that they were looking for the owner. The men refused to give their names, and while the liveryman was looking for an officer to arrest them they made their escape.

It is stated that the "following information may be useful to some at this season of the year, if not to many: Spinach has a direct effect upon the kidneys. The common dandelion, used as greens, is excellent for the same trouble. Asparagus purges the blood. Celery acts admirably upon the nervous system, and is a cure for rheumatism and neuralgia. Tomatoes act upon the liver. Beets and turnips are excellent appetizers. Lettuce and cucumbers are cooling in their effects upon the system. Onions, garlic leeks, olives and shalots, all of which are similar, possess medicinal virtues of a marked character, stimulating the circulatory system and consequent increase of the saliva and the gastric juice promoting digestion. Red onions are an excellent diruetic, and the white ones are recommended to be eaten raw as a remedy for insomnia. They are a tonic and nutritious. A soup made from onions is regarded by the French as an excellent restorative in debility of the digestive organs."

It is stated that the "newest occupation for women is said to be that of superintending weddings. The superintendent, who is usually a youngish woman, is installed in the house of the bride-to-be some little time before the ceremony. She selects the trousseau, advises what is the latest and finest in underwear, buys the material and designs, and makes, or superintends the making of the gowns, knows all about stockings, boots, gloves, laces, handkerchiefs; sees to the millinery and jackets and wraps, tells the bride's mother and sisters what to wear, dictates to the bridesmaids, thinks of everything and lets the engaged couple enjoy themselves with unanxious minds." Rats!

William Galoway, a young man arrested at Newburgh and now in the Ulster County Jail charged with horse-stealing in the town of Marlborough, has made a confession implicating in the transaction a young man named John Raymond. The latter was arrested in Newburgh on Saturday, and after an examination before a Justice of the Peace at Marlborough was lodged in jail here. He was taken to Marlborough for another hearing to-day.

The Leader, the esteemed Uptown morning contemporary of THE FREEMAN, cries "hard times" in its editorial columns and says business is booming on its local page. For instance, in its Saturday issue, it prints this: "The Hudson River Cement Company and the Lawence Cement Company are shipping barrels of cement as fast as it is ground. Business in this line is picking up, and many orders are received by the companies."

A Downtown four-year-old boy whenever he asks his mother for a slice of bread does it in this way: "Please mama, thank you mama, give me a piece of bread and butter mama?" On the first occasion his mother told him that he should ask for the bread first, and when it was given to him to then return thanks. The little fellow replied that he might as well do it all at once and save talk.

The will of Samuel Weiner, of this City, was proved and admitted to probate to-day in the Ulster Surrogate's Court. The will was made in 1883 and was witnessed by E. S. Wood and Josiah DuBois. The estate, real and personal, is given to the sons, Henry C., Isaac N., Richard and daughter Ida. The sons are appointed Executors.

The following appeared in Recorder's Court proceedings on Saturday:

For disorderly conduct a young man named Michael Muldoon was fined $5. Muldoon took a solemn pledge that he would not drink for one year.

For "Michael" in the foregoing read "Martin." Michael Muldoon is an industrious, hard-working, honest man.

The conjunction of Mars and Saturn will take place on the morning of September 20, at about 5 o'clock, when the planets will be nearly two hours high in the sky and nearly one hour before sunrise. Probably in this locality the two planets will appear as one, without the aid of a good opera or field glass.

This forenoon a singular accident occurred to one of A. S. Staples' horses. It was standing on the platform of a large scale when one of the boards broke and the horse's hind legs went down. It took over 10 minutes to release the animal. Strange to say it was not injured.

Early this morning a man whose face was covered with blood and whose body was enveloped in an old bed-quilt, was seen in a wagon coming from the direction of Pinckhockie. It is said the man had been stabbed in a fight.

There are many disagreeable odors here that should be abated. There is much laxity in certain localities in keeping premises and streets in front of them free from decaying vegetable matter and garbage of various kinds.

"The Devil had a good show Downtown last night, as there was services in but one church," said a citizen to-day. "Yes, and nearly all the saloons were opened to help his Satanic Majesty along."

J. M. Mayer and Matthew Winchell, members of the Excise Board, met at the City Hall on Saturday night. Owing to the absence of John Groves, the other member, no business was transacted.

The Japanese wedding—referred to in "recreation notes" elsewhere—on Wednesday evening, in the Wurts-Street M. E. Church, promises to be largely attended.

A meeting of the members of the Board of Alms Commissioners will be held in the City Hall this evening. Counsel Brandow will be called upon to explain charges.
